

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

BEQUESTS

Endowments and bequests to the Young Men's Christian Association, Local, State or International, are investments in character building that continue their usefulness long after the donors have passed on. They help to build up, develop, strengthen and extend this many sided work for young men and boys, and in so doing promote the best interests of the home, the church, and the state. Below is a suggestive form of bequest which can be adapted to meet state laws and local requirements.

PREFACE

The standardizing of Association facts for the past four years, and the tabular presentation of such data in the summaries and tables according to accepted business and government practices, seem to be increasingly appreciated. Indeed, standardization within proper limits and as a normal feature of development is recognized by all to have a steadying influence which tends to substantially improve the value and use of data thus treated because it helps to produce good order and creates respect for, as well as increased interest in, the work as a whole.

Attention is directed,—(1) to the page preceding the Table of Contents; (2) to the fundamental statements concerning the main parts of the Association Movement in the pages immediately following the statement of Dr. Mott; (3) to the table of Associations of India shown in the Year Book for the first time; (4) to the modifications in the section on Personnel and its location before, rather than after, the 200 pages of statistics; (5) to the special studies and diagrams in section five,—the population data of the new census, the recent census on religious bodies, Association studies, and the annual statistical review—to all of which considerable time and effort have been given.

Employed officers generally are to be commended for the promptness with which the majority fill out and return their annual schedules, yet 483 of the smaller local city, railroad, student, and colored Associations—together representing a total membership and activity about eight per cent. of the work as a whole in North America—failed to report in 1920. In this list were 164 inactive Associations that have been carried from three to six successive years without report in the Year Book. Efficient organizations do not carry members indefinitely without their showing some evidence of life. Such practice in the Association weakens the service and the Movement. To remedy this weakness the Year Book Committee (consisting of a number of the Associate General Secretaries of the International Committee, and others) adopted the following resolution: "Associations failing to report in the Year Book for three successive years beginning with 1920, are automatically dropped from the lists." When such organizations become active again, they can easily be restored if they conform to the requirements of the International Convention. The Year Book Committee is also equally anxious that any Association not now listed in the Year Book but which conforms to the requirements of the International Convention, shall at once apply for entrance to the official lists of accredited Associations. The findings of the Commissions relating to the status of Associations and representation in the International Convention, which have very important bearings on the recognition of Associations in the Year Book, and the referendum vote on the same by the Brotherhood while this Year Book is being issued, will be awaited with much interest.

The following principles resulting from numerous conferences of the Year Book Committee and the Bureau of Records with Dr. Mott and other officers of the Association both laymen and secretaries—International, State and local—in 1916, 1917-'19, have guided and controlled the development of the Year Book policies to the present time.

(a) The International Committee is the agent of the International Convention of the Young Men's Christian Association of North America.

(b) The Year Book is the annual statistical record of the Associations of North America, prepared and issued by the International Committee, hence it must seek to conform with both the spirit and the letter of the International Convention in its policies of dealing with all Association interests.

(c) In reflecting the spirit of the International Convention and exercising this fairness to all kinds of Associations, the various Year Book tables—city, railroad, student, county, etc.—limit the entrance of Associations to those that conform to the requirements of the International Convention.

(d) The annual report schedules are sent direct to those Associations that are recognized by or conform to the requirements of the International Convention—and to those only—in order to avoid confusion, save time and expense, preserve the direct approach of the International Committee to the local Association, and for the further best interests of the Movement.

(e) The questions on the report schedules are prepared from the experience of the past years, with the advice and counsel of local, state and international leaders.

(f) The classification of activities is in the following order,—social and entertainment, industrial, physical, educational, religious—leading up to and thus making Bible study, religious meetings, decisions for the Christian life, uniting with the Church, and other special religious effort the post of honor in Association records.

(g) The Association year is considered from May 1 to April 30. The Year Book is issued September 1. These dates require that the reports and schedules from local, state, and other organizations for the Year Book, be received early in May. No such reports are accepted for tabulation after May 31.

Owing to the limited space, the figures in many columns dealing with large totals are shown in hundreds or in thousands in the tables. In all cases extreme care must be exercised to the end that such figures are accurately interpreted. For example, 397 in a column with "in 100's" at the top of the column, means 39,700; or 95 in a column with "in 1000's" at the top, means 95,000, and so on.

The important studies and diagrams from the Bureau of Records in section five of this book, are found listed on page 4, table of contents.

In Table VI—City Associations—part of the endowment funds of some of the Metropolitan boards is invested in office and dormitory buildings connected with the branch Associations, but not shown in the valuation of such branch buildings, in order to avoid duplication. In several instances the expenditures reported by the Metropolitan boards include their appropriations to the branches or departments.

Each reader is urged first to carefully look over the table of contents, page 3, read this preface to become familiar with the points of emphasis, then carefully read the general statements in section one before studying the tables. In seeking to locate a particular topic, report, item, department, or phase of work, look in the cross-reference index found on the last pages of this book. Constructive suggestions for continued improvement are desired.

THE BUREAU OF RECORDS,

GEORGE B. HODGE, Secretary.

THE YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATIONS OF NORTH AMERICA

The past year in the life of the North American Young Men's Christian Associations has been one of reexamination of state and tendencies, of readjustment to changed conditions, of reassertion of vital, guiding principles, and of reviving of convictions and spirit. While not a few Associations are still laboring under serious handicaps occasioned by the interruptions and delays of the War period and the general reaction and exhaustion in the wake of the War, the large majority of them have worked their way back to the normal and many of them are moving on with greater strides and more marked achievements than during the fruitful period before the War. The many conferences, both official and informal, held by various groupings of workers,—local, state, sectional, and national,—have served the most useful purpose of promoting common thinking and concerted action. The larger attention which has been given to multiplying contacts with leaders of the Churches and of other organizations serving men and boys has reacted favorably on the Associations. While there has not been as marked an increase in the material resources of the Movement as in some preceding years and this owing to the prevailing economic conditions of the United States and Canada and of the world in general, nevertheless it has been a good year financially with most of the Associations. Splendid results have been achieved in the way of clearing off indebtedness and several building movements, even in the face of adverse conditions, have been carried to a successful issue. Current expense canvasses have, on the whole, been more satisfactory than in the preceding year. It is a striking fact that none of the railway companies and very few of the industrial corporations, notwithstanding the serious hardship which they have suffered during the year, have reduced their appropriations to the Association. While some of the large givers have not been able, owing to the high taxation, to keep up the former standard of contributions, the total number of givers to the Association in nearly every part of North America has substantially increased.

The secretarial forces of the Brotherhood have registered an encouraging increase in number. It is gratifying to observe the larger attention being given by our leaders to the problems of recruiting and training. The Association Colleges, the Continuation Schools, the Training Centers, the Personnel Bureau of the International Committee, and the Conference on the Association Profession have all done better work than ever and their improved plans promise larger and more abiding results in the coming day. The preparatory processes of the Retirement Fund undertaking have been continued through the year in a most satisfactory way. There are signs on every hand of the releasing of larger voluntary lay forces in the service of the Associations than was apparent before the War, although this contribution is unmistakably not as marked as during the war activities.

In almost every class of Associations it has been a year of progress. The position of the leading City Associations has been strengthened. In the case of smaller cities, the record, generally speaking, has not been quite so encouraging. In the industrial field the openings and demands for the work have exceeded the ability of the Association Movement to respond. In a time of so much unemployment and unrest the Association has shown itself afresh to be a great conserving influence. The Associations along the railways and in the newly developed service for the Merchant Marine have had a good year judged by every test. This was made most evident when the whole work came under comprehensive review at the Richmond Conference. There has been an unprecedented increase in the number of students in universities and colleges. The Associations on every hand have met this new challenge with splendid courage and effectiveness and have closed their most fruitful year in evangelistic results. The Rural and Colored Associations, as well as the Boys' Work, while showing a year abounding in encouragement, have been retarded somewhat in their growth through insufficient staff, although the need and demand for expansion in all these fields have been greater than ever.

In the realm of Association activities the year has been most reassuring. It may be questioned whether in the realm of the physical work there has ever been a year of greater practical helpfulness. The educational work of the Association has unmistakably entered upon a new era. This is shown from the striking fact that more young men and boys were enrolled in the educational classes of the Association last year than in all of the Protestant Christian colleges of North America. Even more encouraging, however, than the great increase in number of students has been the improvement in the leadership of this work and in the successful working of the new and more comprehensive educational policy. Beyond all else in encouragement and significance, in so many communities and by so many leaders, has been the strong reassertion of the central objective of the Association Movement—the bringing of men and boys under the sway of Christ as the Divine Lord and Saviour and relating them to His program. That this renewed emphasis comes in the pathway of a vivid and at times humbling realization of shortcomings and sins of omission affords ground for larger confidence in the genuineness and hopefulness of this process.

The experience of the supervisory bodies has reflected quite faithfully the conditions obtaining in the Associations themselves. With the exception of possibly seven or eight State organizations the forty or more State Committees have not only held their own but improved their service. While there have been inevitable reductions in the staff due to a return to peace-time conditions, the signs are abundant of an abler leadership and of the exertion of a greater power for the upbuilding of men in the various commonwealths.

The Canadian National Council have reduced their staff in order to bring it down to meet the possibilities of a most difficult financial situation. This has helped reestablish a new basis of more solid relationship between the local Associations of Canada and their national organization. There has been a loosening of the ties between the old student work and the boys' work of the Dominion on the one hand and their general Association Movement on the other hand. It is hoped and believed that processes of continued negotiation will insure a real solidarity and larger cooperation than ever. One sees up and down Canada evidences of the rising and moving of a new life. One notices it in the growth of democracy in their Movement, in the enlarged membership, in the renewed appreciations shown by the Canadian people in the Association and in its constructive program.

The International Committee has given much attention during the year to giving effect to the instructions of the Brotherhood at the Detroit Convention. The Regional Plan authorized at that time is gradually taking shape. Most profitable conferences have been held in all five of the Regions and the newly formed Regional Committees are beginning to function. It is believed that this plan will result in bringing about a better coordination of the varied work of the International Committee in the different sections of the country, also more satisfactory coordination in the work of the International Committee with that of the State Committees, and that it will further desirable decentralization. The improvement of the internal reorganization of the International Committee is also proceeding under the helpful leadership of the Shuey Commission. The Commission on the Colored Work achieved advance steps in meeting some of the most difficult and pressing problems of the Colored Work. The Army and Navy Commission appointed at Detroit likewise succeeded in drawing up and adopting a good working policy for the conduct of the Army and Navy Work. The Commission on Convention Representation and Rules has accomplished the larger part of its task. The Commission on Approach to the Churches is in process of formation and of outlining its plans. The Budget Reviewing Committee, authorized by the Detroit Convention, has done a thorough-going and constructive piece of work. This has been supplemented by different informal conferences both with secretarial and lay leaders of the Brotherhood. Such study and conference have helped in effecting certain reductions in the budgets, and also in bringing about a more satisfactory understanding on the part of the Associations and of the International Committee with reference to ensuring the best financial support of the work. The International Dinner in honor of General Pershing and his truly notable tribute on that occasion to the work of the Association in war and in peace has been of inestimable value to the entire Brotherhood.

The National War Work Council, having accomplished one of the greatest patriotic services in the history of the world, was formally dissolved March 8, 1921. Before closing its work it called into being the Trustees of the War Fund to administer on certain clearly designated lines the unexpended balances carried forward largely from the second Association War Work Campaign. A Liquidation Committee was also set up to administer the appropriations toward current budgets authorized by the War Work Council before its dissolution. A wonderful educational work has been conducted during the year among the ex-service men. Over eighty thousand men have been served in connection with the universities, colleges, and general Associations as well as through correspondence courses. A highly important Americanization work has been carried forward. The Associations have also had a leading part in reemployment work and in affording vocational guidance to ex-service men. Among the American soldiers on the Rhine and among the naval units in the Eastern Mediterranean, the Association has continued a work of the highest standard of efficiency. In addition to all this, the work on behalf of the regular Army and Navy in the posts and stations of the United States, the Canal Zone, the Hawaiian Islands, and the Philippine Islands has been continued on a larger scale than in the pre-War days.

Few realize the enormous extent of the work still in progress among Allied Armies and their ex-service men throughout Europe and the Near East. Although this work is being demobilized and domesticated as rapidly as possible, American secretaries are still directing and American Association funds are still financing a work on behalf of at least two millions of men. It should be reiterated that the definite policy is to close up this work, so far as American direction and support are concerned, as soon as this can wisely be done. There is general agreement, however, that everything possible should be done to ensure continuance under indigenous leadership and control of Association Work along the most approved lines which have been initiated in the War service.

The United War Work Campaign, Incorporated, have virtually brought their work to a close. It will be recalled that under the direction of President Wilson this campaign was organized to secure a fund of $170,500,000 for the seven welfare societies. Approximately an even $190,000,000 was collected and distributed among these societies by the United War Work Campaign, Incorporated. This campaign was conducted at the expense of 2.15 per cent. which is believed to be the most favorable showing made in connection with any of the great War and post-War financial campaigns. This should be the occasion of special gratification, because, as is well-known, the Association Movement furnished largely the groundwork and leadership of the Campaign.

The year has been one of continued encouragement in the Foreign Work of the North American Associations. In virtually every one of the more than twenty countries to which this work has extended there are multiplying evidences of progress. Among the unmistakable signs of the vitality of the Association in these different lands of Asia, Latin America, Africa, and Europe are the constant growth of the organization, its adaptation to local conditions, its markedly indigenous character, its splendid initiative and ability to mark out new paths, and above all, its propagating power and sacrificial spirit. The National Committees as well as the Foreign Department of the International Committee have perfected their organization and are exhibiting a real leadership. The Commission on Foreign Work appointed by the Association of Employed Officers has continued its helpful counseling relation to the plans and activities of the Foreign Department. Helpful tours of visitation have been made to a number of the fields, for example, that of Mr. Brockman in the Far East, Mr. Eddy in the Near East, Mr. Hurrey in South America, and Messrs. Clinton and Babcock in Mexico and the West Indies. Moreover, the visits of such prominent Association laymen as Mr. W. A. Rogers of Buffalo and Mr. E. J. Couper of Minneapolis have helped greatly in developing the interest of laymen. Extensive preparations have been made for carrying to an early successful conclusion the Foreign Association Building Program which was interrupted by the War. The most notable Association gatherings held on the foreign field during the year were the National Conventions in China and India. More and more this Movement is becoming a great world power, whether we have in mind the promotion of the physical betterment of men, or the development of a new and efficient educational force, or the relating of men and boys to Christ and to the plans of His Kingdom, or in binding together more closely the nations and races of mankind.

JOHN R. MOTT,

General Secretary of the International Committee.

THE INTERNATIONAL COMMITTEE

The International Committee is the agent of the International Convention. It is composed of nearly 200 christian laymen scattered over the United States and Canada, elected by the International Convention, including the chairmen of the state committees. This committee and its secretaries serve the local Associations and the state committees through its various departments and bureaus each of which has a sub committee and staff of secretaries. The Committee exists and operates, not for itself but for strengthening the work of local, state and national organizations in the development of christian character among men and boys in this and other lands.

It has successfully passed through a year of difficult adjustment both in organization and finances. In the United States a good beginning has been made in the regional organizations which have already begun to improve cooperation with state organizations. The overseas (foreign) work has been conserved, its service broadened, and its large budget for 1920 successfully met. The Association war work in the countries and armies of our Allies has been happily carried on toward its final commitment to our fellow workers in those countries.

The following brief report of the International Committee is here made in three divisions: I. Home Division, II. Overseas (Foreign) Division, III. General Service Division.

I. HOME DIVISION 1. REGIONAL COMMITTEES

To facilitate the development of Association work in the United States, the International Convention at Detroit in 1919 authorized the organization of five regional committees,—Eastern, Central, Southern, Western, and Pacific. The members of the International Committee residing in these regions, together with the chairmen of the state committees within such territories, form these committees. The chairmen of the regional committees are members of the Executive Committee of the International Committee.

Encouraging progress has been made in the development of these committees. The Central Region, Mr. C. R. Joy, chairman, was organized in March 1920 and is steadily increasing its helpful service to all state and local Associations within its borders. The Eastern Region was organized in January 1921 with Mr. E. W. Hazen as chairman, and is getting its work well under way. The Southern Region was organized in April 1921 with Mr. J. J. Eagan as chairman. In all of these regions several conferences have been held looking to a closer study of the problems and the special needs of the state and local Associations, all with the one purpose of strengthening and encouraging both the work and workers. In the Pacific and Western Regions important conferences have been recently held but permanent organization has not yet been effected.

2. DEPARTMENTS AND BUREAUS

The Home Division of the International committee includes the following departments: Army and Navy, Boys' Work, City, Colored, County, Educational, Financial Service, Industrial, Physical, Religious, Student, Transportation.

Army and Navy

The past year has been a period of readjustment following the days of the world war during which time this department was practically merged with the work of the National War Work Council. With demobilization of the Council early in 1921 this department assumed responsibility for the promotion and administration of the work at permanent camps. During the calendar year 1921 this transferred work with American forces at home is financed under budget approved in 1920 by the War Work Council. The Army and Navy department, therefore, sustains intimate relations to Association service with men of the American Army, Navy and Marine Corps through the Army, Navy, or Army and Navy Associations. A third type of service to men in uniform is being rendered through city Associations to whom reimbursement has been made upon basis of number of men using their building. The Army and Navy department program for 1921 includes cooperation with state committees in service to National Guard encampments held on other than military reservations. Particular attention has been given to providing Association hospitality for men of the Atlantic and Pacific fleets in distant ports. Permanent Army and Navy buildings are under construction at Balboa and Cristobal in the Canal Zone and site has been purchased for permanent Navy Association building for American sailors at Shanghai.

During the year Mr. F. A. McCarl became Senior Secretary. The Army and Navy department committee, on request of the trustees of the war fund, is making a careful survey of communities from which requests have come for allocation from war fund for the erection of permanent Army and Navy Association buildings.

Boys' Work

The outstanding event of 1920 was the Assembly of Association Workers With Boys at Blue Ridge, N. C., May 19-31. Approximately 600 men, representing 25 different nations, met to consider present problems and future progress of Christian work for and with boys.

There have been a number of important changes in the boys' work staff during the year. While E. M. Robinson, senior secretary, was on special assignment in Europe and Asia, Arthur N. Cotton was appointed acting senior secretary in his place.

The Christian Citizenship Training Program is making substantial progress as a four-fold method of work for boys in the Association and also among other organizations dealing with boys, particularly church groups. Translated adaptations of this program are now in use in China, Siberia and other countries. The number of Hi-Y groups is constantly increasing. Through these groups the efforts of more than 40 serious older high school boys have been enlisted in raising the standards among the 850,000 high school boys in the United States. Work among employed boys continues to make steady gain. The number of employed boys' brotherhoods is enlarging and the find yourself plan has been successfully carried on in scores of Associations, winning the cordial approval and cooperation of important groups of men and agencies.

The Father and Son Week proved 'more popular than ever before. The Association and Sunday school forces have now united in an observance of common dates for this week during the coming fall. This agreement as to date insures even larger results. The work for colored boys continues with gratifying results, while that for Christian callings, emphasizing as it does vocational guidance on the Christian basis and the enlisting of older boys in Christian life work, is being conserved through the efforts of the united boys' work staff.

City

Emphasis has been placed during the last year on business administration and community work. The secretary for business administration has visited many city Associations, including industrial fields, and has rendered 68 carefully prepared reports to local Associations covering general business administration including accounting, membership, and departmental details. These reports, with exhibits, have ranged from ten to ninety pages in length. Special accounting and statistical forms desired by Associations have been prepared and an exhibit of office devices, e.g., visible filing systems, mechanical aids, has been assembled. Two workers have been employed at the expense of local Associations to carry out details of business systems, including cafeteria and dormitory services. Community work has been considered with emphasis in the local Association and the organization of new centers. There is an encouraging demand for help in this direction.

Colored Men

A community building was dedicated November 21, 1920, at Lockland, Ohio, the first building of its kind provided for a colored Association.

It will serve several nearby communities as a center for uplift activities provided by the Association. It has the united interest and support of a number of employers and laborers in important factories in that section. It is a promising example of what may be done for groups of colored people in small towns. A noteworthy effort is being made on Long Island in county and community work among colored people. A colored secretary has been employed, furnished with an automobile, and has a budget provided for one year. His work is a part of the general Association work on the Island. This is a bold attempt to carry Association service to small groups of colored people in villages and rural communities. If the effort proves successful it will show the way to reaching large numbers of colored people in such communities throughout the entire country. At least seventy per cent. of the colored people live in the country and it is a field practically untouched by the Association.

An industrial building for colored men and boys was erected in East St. Louis and is an example of what is being done in many industrial centers. A larger number of boys' conferences and camps were held during the last year than in any previous year. Many efficient Hi-Y clubs are in existence among colored boys. The colored Associations have rendered a large service to ex-service men in helping them secure scholarships from the educational fund and advising them concerning courses of study. The 14 buildings made possible by Mr. Rosenwald's gifts are used to the limit and most of them are too small to actually serve the needs of the communities where they are located. The high cost of building materials prevented the erection and completion of any of the larger buildings last year. The student work has been more nearly on a normal basis the past year than for several years. Systematic visitation has been made to practically all of the student Associations for the purpose of promoting a strong program of Bible study and religious meetings. Social service has been encouraged and a general deepening of the spiritual lives of students has resulted. The Kings Mountain Student Conference had its largest attendance and proves more and more fruitful in the training of a volunteer student leadership. The Summer School at Harper's Ferry is now entirely supported by the local Associations and student fees. The last session proved to be the best in the history of the school.

County Work

During 1920 the State of Missouri inaugurated County Work. Eighteen new counties have been organized in the United States and Canada, but thirteen have at least temporarily suspended. This lapse is due primarily to the fact that curtailment in supervision seemed to be necessary by both State and International Committees, and in County work close supervision is absolutely essential to success.

There are now 210 organized counties in the United States and Canada, distributed as follows: Central Region 87; Eastern 54; Pacific 21; Southern 16; Western 12, and Canada 10. Economic depression has made itself felt in agricultural areas and is having a very marked influence upon the financing of local counties. In common with other branches of work the supervisory forces in Canada have been greatly reduced. It has been deemed impracticable to continue the County work among the Indians for the time being.

Three members of the staff have been assigned temporarily to overseas service. The department now has six men giving full time and one giving half time. In addition to this, special secretarial aid is given by the Boys' work, Physical work, Foreign work and Industrial work departments. A radical departure in the policy of the department publication, Rural Manhood, has been made. The paper now appears combined with Association Men as a Rural Manhood Edition. Two hundred and forty-four employed officers are giving full time to the County work, in addition to some fifty others who are giving part time.

Educational

During the year the Educational Department and the United Y. M. C. A. Schools have been consolidated, so that they are practically synonymous terms. The work of the department, or schools, has been carried on in two main divisions, viz.: the resident division and the extension division. The resident division has carried on a constantly enlarging program of service and helpfulness to the Associations in connection with their local or resident educational work. The staff of counselors and field workers has made it possible to give personal counsel and assistance in visits ranging from one day to two weeks in length, to 102 Associations in thirty-three states and provinces, besides the large number that have been aided by correspondence. The local Associations have also been greatly helped in improving the quality of their educational work by the publication of standard courses of study in more than thirty major subjects, standard text books in five major subjects and standard promotion plans and advertising material. Substantial progress has been made, through the cooperation of a large number of local secretaries, both in standardizing their own work and in contributing time and energy to commission service for the development of standard courses of study, in binding together some 400 Associations in a continental fellowship which is destined to make the United Y.M.C.A. Schools one of the most significant educational developments of the present age. Gratifying results have followed this growing unity in enlarging schools and in a most encouraging growth in the educational quality of the work done.

The extension division has had a remarkable experience. To prepare instruction material in more than a hundred and fifty courses to be taught by correspondence, to enroll, classify and carry on instruction for 20,000 students from nearly every county in the United States and province of Canada, and to embody in the organization the ideals that are new to this field of work, all done in eighteen months time, starting from nothing, is the herculean task accomplished by the faithful two workers in this division. About 95 per cent. of the students in the correspondence courses are men who received scholarship awards from the War Work Council. The extension division is engaged in 1921 in the task of building up a student body paying for its own courses, in order to insure the continuance of the correspondence school on a permanent self-supporting basis.

Vocational guidance methods and material have been developed and are being used by nearly fifty Associations that have found a need in their fields for a sane and practical system of counseling young men and boys in the choice of their life work. William F. Hirsch, secretary of the United Y. M. C. A. Schools, became senior secretary of the educational department in November.

Financial Service Bureau

During the past year the organization of the Bureau has been completed and the country is entirely covered by the service. In spite of the wide spread business depression the Associations have kept the secretaries of the Bureau busy responding to calls for help with special financial efforts. Because of financial uncertainties very few building campaigns have been conducted. The calls have been for help in securing money for debt and current expense and in some cases repairs and improvements, so while the amounts called for have been small as compared with new building efforts, yet the calls have been very important and insistent in as much as in many cases they have really meant the life or death of the Associations. During the year the Bureau has helped forty Associations secure $1,862,000.

Industrial

Among the important developments in the past year, none is more marked than the increasing interest on the part of the Association movement as a whole in the opportunity and obligation presented by the industrial field. Practically all departments, local, state and international, are now giving special attention to this field. This is a sign of great promise, for it shows that the true aim of industrial work is being realized and that the whole Association—all that it is and does—is being brought into closer relations to the industrial field, and that the all around message of the Association is being brought to more of the twenty million men and boys in industry.

The policy governing the department, and the end toward which its efforts are directed, is to help to expand the plans, enlist the resources, and provide the leadership with which to enlarge this service and thus "to further the expression of christian spirit in a genuine brotherhood among all who have a part in the industrial life of the nation, and to make it unmistakably understood to both the workers and directors of industry that the Association is an agency of democratic intercourse and common purpose, whose personnel and resources are dedicated to such service in the spirit of the Master." This is sometimes referred to as occupying and enlarging the zone of agreement on the basis of mutuality.

The plan of organization continues as last year, namely: a department committee of which Mr. M. Hartley Dodge is Chairman, together with six sub-committees, and a staff of fourteen secretaries to serve (a) regional divisions of the industrial field; (b) industrial divisions, including iron, steel, textile, mining, lumber, petroleum, and other industries; (c) city extension work, including Americanization, etc.; (d) service to special groups, such as colored, immigrants and Mexicans; (e) movements, which include industrial service, immigration, thrift; (f) bureaus of motion pictures and exhibits; (g) work with the employed boy; (h) work with foremen; (i) religious work in industry; (j) health and recreation.

The department projects its plans along two main lines, always in cooperation with state and local agencies; (a) helping the existing Associations to occupy their industrial fields; (b) establishing specially adapted Associations, or Association work in relation to single industries. The program aims at (a) a larger industrial membership; (b) greater use of the Association building by industrial workers; and (c) the extension of the Association's industrial activities outside of the building. This usually involves (a) the addition of one or more secretaries to the local Association to carry the work where industrial workers are located; (b) secretaries giving full time to single industries; (c) branch buildings in industrial sections of the city supported by the community; (d) buildings erected by industries and maintained by employers and employes jointly; (e) and system work with groups of industries under a single management.

Physical

There has been a reduction in the personnel of the staff of this department during the year and these changes have called for reorganization and readjustment. With a view to making a more thorough study of the needs of the field and to increase effectiveness each secretary while continuing to serve nationally in a particular phase is at the same time related to the promotion of physical work in an assigned region, the senior secretary, in addition to general administration, assuming relationship to the promotion of physical work in the Pacific region. General responsibilities are assigned as follows: first, the promotion of basket ball, swimming and similar phases of work national in scope; second, the promotion of health and recreation; third, the development of health and recreation especially in rural communities; fourth, physical work with the men of the Army and Navy; fifth, the department of personnel and editorial responsibility. Emphasis has been placed upon field service in cooperation with state committees and physical directors' societies. This has resulted in many sectional, state and local conferences in which policies have been adopted and steps taken toward the improvement of the Association's organization and program of the work of the physical department.

Religious Work

Spiritual productivity in the Associations has taken a turn upwards from the rather low state in which the after war slump left them. Slowly yet appreciably the energies withdrawn temporarily from direct religious effort are being redirected toward the central objective. This is most in evidence in the student field, but is pronounced in the boys' area and enough so to be encouraging among the city, rural and colored adult sections. The larger results where found are to be attributed more to greater application to the task than to new or striking methods. The undertaking of the commission on college evangelism in the Central region is a complete demonstration of what resolute action on a large scale following proven processes will accomplish. First it was constituted to practice evangelism rather than to study it. Thorough preparation by Bible study, prayer and personal work prepared the ground. The vision took in the whole student bodies of scores of institutions. None appeared too difficult to yield to the masterly attack.

There has been a like uniformity of positive results among the high school groups wherever the inner circle has held true to the ideal of bringing to bear upon their fellows the leaven and witness of christian life maintained by fellowship in prayer, familiarity with the teachings of Jesus, trust in Him as saviour and loyalty to Him as master. The city, railroad and industrial Associations have before them as a supreme task the vitalizing spiritually of their immense activities beyond the point of wholesome atmosphere and the christian example of the secretaries, teachers and other leaders in contact with the multitude of men participating. These latter excellencies generally are already attained. To bring the fields as a whole to active fruition it is required that they be shot through in every department and smaller unit with the dynamic processes that mark the boys' and student fields, indigenously originated and executed. Where this is being seriously undertaken the rewards are no less commensurate than in the less institutionalized areas of service. And there are many reassuring signs that a much larger number of the adult serving Associations are to address themselves at once to a more nearly adequate recognition of their spiritual opportunity and obligation.

Student

The student field during the past year has been marked by not a little unrest. This has been caused partly by the bewilderment of many thoughtful men on account of the vast confusions incidental to the war and its aftermath. The need for moral education and religious nurture has been widely recognized. The student department has endeavored to enter into this unusual opportunity and to meet this great need. There has been an encouraging amount of cooperation from professors and college administrations. The evangelistic emphasis in the department has been especially marked. This has been true not only in evangelistic campaigns, although there have been more of these than in any preceding year of the department's work. It has been even more true in the realm of personal influence and the securing of definite christian decisions through Bible classes and other means. The response to this appeal from the students themselves has been most encouraging.

A national assembly of student secretaries was held at Lake Forest in the early autumn of 1920. This gathering helped very much in the formulation of a united policy of advance in every section of the country. The task of training an adequate number of able student secretaries is being faced by a representative commission. Similarly, another group is studying ways of even further fellowship between the student department and the other departments in the Movement. The plan for summer training this year for secretaries is to unite with the different sectional schools. The effort to recognize and utilize the growing desire for democratic initiation and direction on the part of the students themselves is a significant feature of the past year. State committees of counsel have been formed in many of the leading states, and these in turn are correlated with field councils which give advice and help to the national work. The chief field divisions are as follows: New England; Middle Atlantic; The South; Middle West; Southwest; Rocky Mountain States; Pacific Coast; Indian Work.

Transportation

The transportation department promotes its work through three sections at 293 places as follows: 1. Railroad section at 275 terminal and division points; 2. electric railway section at 5 important terminals; 3. merchant marine section at 5 home ports and 8 ports in other lands, including England, France, Belgium and Cuba.

The unsettled business conditions during the year have served as a real test of the value and place of the work of the department. In face of the drastic measures instituted for economy, not a single appropriation from the railroad companies to the railroad Associations has been discontinued, although these same companies have been obliged to cut expenses in every other direction. Further evidence of corporate approval is indicated by the following new buildings and building additions secured: Harvard, Ark., Capreol, Ont., Bellefontaine, Ohio, Denison, Texas, Maybrook, N. Y., New Haven, Conn., at a total cost of $618,000. New Associations were opened at East Toledo and Canton, Ohio, Capreol, Ont., Harvard, Ark., and Mayfield Yards, Pa.

The annual membership drive of the railroad Associations throughout North America, has become a settled feature, proving its value in various ways and likely to be emulated by other departments of the Association. The dormitories of the branches were used 3,952,000 times during 1920, while 10,910,000 meals and luncheons were served. Each of these features shows a marked increase over the preceding year. Definite religious meetings in buildings and shops were attended by 825,300 men.

The staff of nine secretaries has continued without change throughout the year. Mr. F. M. M. Richardson spent several months in Europe on a special mission in the interests of railroad employes and merchant seamen in England, France, Czecho-Slovakia and Belgium. The department completed another year on the "pay as you go" plan, and now has an unbroken record of ten consecutive years of paying all bills at the end of each month. The merchant marine section made steady progress, aiding in opening new branches in New York City, Hoboken, N. J., and Newport News, Va., in connection with the local Associations, and sending a secretary to develop work at Rio de Janeiro.

II. OVERSEAS (FOREIGN WORK) DIVISION

The Foreign Work has just passed a period of transition which is characterized by wide variations in financial support at home and remarkable changes in certain factors on the field. During the years from 1914 to 1919, the war period, every one acknowledged an emergency existing and many expected that by the end of this period the conditions would be back nearly to normal. At the beginning of 1920 it appeared as though the Foreign Work would be able to make a rapid and substantial advance but the business reaction has altered the situation materially and radically. The year 1920 cannot but be marked in the future as the ending of one process and the beginning of a new one. Some aspects of this change will be here noted.

India and Ceylon

Rural work in India began in 1914, with three Indian secretaries. Today there are two national and forty local secretaries working in the villages. The latest reports show that there are 170 cooperative credit societies already registered. These societies have a total membership of 6,000 while more than 25,000 people are directly benefited. These societies lend money to members at rates of interest ranging from  $9\frac{1}{2}$  to 15 per cent. instead of from 35 to 300 per cent. as is done by local money lenders. Most of the people in these areas are tenant cultivators with an almost insuperable burden of poverty, debt and ignorance. The secretary helps to get these people to see how they can save themselves from their economic depression through the cooperative societies; how they can increase their income through education and providing of social and other attractions for the general helpfulness of their whole lives.

Another distinctively Indian movement is that among students. Nationally this is organized separate from the Association but is closely affiliated with it and locally is identified with it. Through the quiet influence of its hostels for students in Lahore, Bombay, Calcutta, Madras, Nagpur, and Rangoon, the secretaries in these cities are coming into intimate contact with Indian school life. A new feature of this work for students was the opening in February of a club for Indians in London under the auspices of the Indian National Council.

The opportunity to contribute to the physical life of India through the Association has been further illustrated in 1920. While there are only twelve gymnasiums of all kinds in India and Ceylon, and while only five of the physical directors in the countries are Americans or Canadians, yet the Association is influencing widely the program of physical education. This is done chiefly through the training in physical work of drill-masters representing the lower schools supported by Government; through lectures and demonstrations in the large cities, and through the personal influence of the National Physical Director. The first training school for physical directors was opened in Madras in August 1920, having a nine months' course. The Indian Associations will have an important part in the all-Indian games to be held in 1922 in India.

Another contribution to the life of India through the Association is in the activities of the Literature department. While no new series of books was projected in 1920, Dr. Farquhar has continued to edit and publish volumes on broad themes relating to Indian life and history. A significant volume of his has recently come from the press, entitled "An Outline of the Religious Literature of India."

The distinctively religious program of the Association has gone forward on normal lines. The Movement has steadily maintained a sympathetic rather than a combative attitude toward the best in the Oriental religions, and its work is carried on through literature, through Bible classes, through personal contacts in hostels and in summer camps, and in other ways—quietly rather than publicly. The exception is evangelistic meetings conducted by Sherwood Eddy and others at varying intervals and the constant emphasis on evangelism among the non-student classes through personal efforts of secretaries whose work is largely in cooperation with movements other than the Association. A new undertaking during the past year has been the Lecture department, which is circulating lectures with slides, and in other ways making demonstrations on lines similar to the Lecture department in China. The most important event in the Association life of India was the National Convention held November 22nd-27th.

China and Hongkong

The progress of the Young Men's Christian Association in China during the year went far beyond any previous record during its twenty-five years of history. The outstanding event was the Eighth National Convention held at Tientsin in April. At this time the nation was rent with political discord even to the extent of civil war, and these conditions made travel still more difficult in a country where communication at best is limited. It is significant, therefore, that the total attendance at the Convention was 1,271 delegates, twice as large as any previous Chinese Association Convention and is generally agreed to have been the largest Christian gathering so far held in China. A conspicuous feature of the Convention was the Chinese leadership; there were very few foreigners who were delegates. It was a meeting of Chinese in China on the subject of a great cause for the Chinese people. The chief topic of the Convention was "The China of Tomorrow," revealing that the thinking leaders without question have an eager forward look instead of that backward look which their fathers have always held. There was a notable array of speakers, chiefly Chinese, and one representative of the Japanese Associations.

Three facts stand out clearly in the results of this gathering. The first is the response on the part of leaders of China from every section, representing all schools of political and religious thought, to the challenge of the Association. This Movement with its program for the all-round development of manhood, has caught the enthusiasm of the Chinese, and at this time in the development of their national life they feel keenly the need of the moral stimulus which the Association is able to give to young men. Secondly, the Convention has shown that the Association has come into its own in China. The conduct of the Convention brought out without a question of doubt that the Movement has become entirely indigenous. It rests upon native leadership rather than on leadership from any other nation. In the third place, the Convention placed the burden of work on the conscience of the Chinese themselves. They demonstrated more clearly than ever before that the task is their own and they are not waiting for other lands to take the initiative. The delegates went home fired in imagination with this one thought and ideal, and they have set to work to bring to realization the conception of an Association Movement which is Chinese in its leadership and method of work.

The great cities of China are still the demonstrating centers of the Association Movement, and notwithstanding what has been said above regarding the indigenous character of the work, experienced leadership from the United States and Canada is urgently needed. The National Committee has recently established a department for work for boys with an expert trained in the United States in charge. He will have as his primary object the developing and training of Chinese Boys' secretaries. Another specialist was sent out in 1920 for the leadership of national physical training. His work is that of coordinating the programs for the various local Associations, the training of physical directors, and the conducting of provincial and national athletic meets which have done so much up to the present time to stimulate interest in physical activities.

The program of extending the knowledge of public health under the leadership of Dr. W. W. Peter, which has been so successfully projected and has reached such large numbers of people during the past six years, has been giving a further demonstration during 1920 through a campaign held at Foochow. In our appeal last year we referred to a campaign to stamp out cholera. In 1920 the whole city was stirred with different features of the propaganda for health and many thousands were impressed for the first time with the need of sanitation. Not one case of cholera occurred during the succeeding months. (See report of the Foochow Health Campaign and pamphlet of the Russell Sage Foundation.)

Another advance in the national work for 1920 has been the setting apart of an experienced American secretary for the leadership of the religious work, nationally considered. He has addressed himself to the task of relating Associations more and more intimately in a program of religious activity. Marked progress has been made throughout the Association field in China in Bible study. The city of Foochow has enrolled 2,600 men and boys in such study and 1,000 of these were Government school students. Likewise at Canton 1,500 were enrolled and over 20,000 attended the religious meetings held in the Association building. The rapidly changing economic and industrial conditions of China have brought the Association at Shanghai to set aside one of its secretaries to work among industrial groups. A large cotton manufacturing plant established in Central China has strongly urged that the Association should establish activities for their workers.

No account of the work of the Association in China during the past year could be complete without reference to the return of the thousands of laborers from France, who are now located largely in the Shantung Province. The National Committee, through the assistance of American friends, has set aside a well qualified Chinese secretary to take charge of Association work in the small centers where these laborers are now living, to develop educational features similar to that with which they were familiar in France, and in other ways to bring the Association program to them.

Japan and Korea

The most significant step has been the securing of Mr. S. Saito as the first Japanese National General Secretary. His appointment marks the culmination of two decades of training and the laying of foundations. The wisdom of this choice has been shown by the expansion of activity on the part of the National Committee and the confidence engendered among the local secretaries. He has already attracted two graduates of the Imperial University to the secretaryship. The budget as adopted by the National Committees for 1921 calls for the raising of Yen 47,218 in Japan, an increase of Yen 11,073 over last year's budget. In addition to this there are other expenditures for which there is an income, making a total budget of Yen 84,218 for all activities of the National Committee.

The Association at Kobe quite outgrew the building erected in 1912 which until recently was the best Association building in the Japanese Empire. Its educational classes, running from early morning till nine at night, have enrolled 3,500 men and boys and necessitated the renting of a public school building for extra class rooms. But the widening of the street on which the building fronted has made necessary the removal of the building, and the damages granted by the Municipality plus a generous sum from citizens have made possible the construction of a much larger building on a better site.

An instance of the adaptability of the Association to a commercial center, even without equipment, is afforded by Nagoya where with the support of a group of business men, most of them non-Christian, a program of games, lectures, and entertainments has been carried out in some scores of factories, schools, and shops, attended during the first fourteen months by 120,000 men and boys. Funds for the building site have been contributed locally and a temporary building is planned. This has all happened within three years of the time when the National Committee began to lay the foundations for work in that city.

The physical work throughout the Empire has grown remarkably. The two well-equipped gymnasiums in Tokyo and Seoul have been overflowing, the maximum monthly attendance being 7,500 in Tokyo and 6,185 in Seoul. Outside the buildings the physical directors have rendered far-reaching service to Japanese athletic organizations and have given impetus to games of the high ideals of sport. The first center for work among industrial men was opened two years ago in Tokyo, and during 1920 gained a firm footing under the direction of two specially trained secretaries. In Osaka the factories have welcomed a program of educational and recreational service among their employees.

South America

The development of Young Men's Christian Associations in South America is under the general direction of the Continental Committee, with a National Committee in Brazil only. We reported in our appeal of last year the beginning of an Association in Lima, Peru. During 1920 progress has been made in the preliminary organization and the influence of the Association has thus far been manifested through its physical activities. In November it began the first Association physical class in Peru, with fifteen men enrolled, conducted in a room which could hold twenty. It should be borne in mind that up to that time there had been no visible Association as the time had not yet come for securing the funds necessary to rent a building.

In Buenos Aires the Association has had a year of continued prosperity, by which we mean that its service has been rendered to a larger number of young men and boys and numbers of the student classes. Particular attention should be called to the inauguration of the United Summer Camp in Argentina, wherein 175 boys, ranging from the university student to the homeless boy, were brought together for eight days in a camp near Buenos Aires.

The national work in Brazil has sustained a serious loss during the year because of the death of Myron A. Clark, its National Secretary.

He was the pioneer secretary in South America. The Associations have been established under his leadership in Porto Alegre, Sao Paulo and Recife, and student Associations in other parts of the country. The Rio Association, the first in Brazil, is planning to erect a new building as soon as conditions warrant.

Mexico

The revival of Association work in Mexico under the improved conditions there has been noteworthy. While the Associations in the different cities of Mexico have never been closed entirely by the revolutionary conditions, yet the growth and development of the work has been retarded naturally by the turmoil of political and economic life. But beginning in 1919 and continuing through 1920, the Associations have "come back" in a real sense, bigger, stronger, and more aggressive than ever.

The Association in Mexico City in its own modern building has made perhaps the most noteworthy record. Its budget for the year was a little over 150,000 Pesos, all raised locally with the exception of a small grant from the International Committee for training and for student work. Of a staff of eighteen employed officers, three are Americans, and of the total all but one are supported by friends of the work in Mexico City. The building has been crowded with young men to the limit of its capacity—1,800 members and a long waiting list—and crowded with activities, social, religious and educational. Its program of physical education compares favorably with the largest American Associations. The physical director was appointed assistant director of physical education in the Government schools, and with the assistance of the leaders trained in the gymnasium of the Association he has been able to carry through a complete program among the 5,000 young men and boys in the higher institutions of learning, the first work of physical education in the history of the Republic. This has won high praise from Government officials and other educated men and urgent calls are coming for its duplication in various state capitals.

Another important feature is the industrial work developed for the first time through the Association in Mexico and aimed especially to meet the needs of the various labor situations. The first classes to be reached by this work will be the street railway men and the factory employes. The new development was made possible by the personal contribution of Provisional President de la Huerta who voluntarily subscribed 7,000 Pesos for the inauguration of this work. There has been recently a preliminary organization of a National Committee for Mexico effected, and plans are under way for a nation-wide expansion of the Association. In this preliminary effort Mexicans have joined with foreigners, and the Association has afforded at least one basis of common effort by these elements which are in so many cases antagonistic.

Egypt

One of the features of 1920 which may be briefly reported is the opening of work in Egypt. Even before the War the International Committee was seeking three men to send to Egypt, but owing to the peculiar qualifications which were required they were not discovered in time. When the War opened, Mr. William Jessop happened to be in Egypt and at once took charge of efforts to aid the soldiers who were arriving in large numbers. With inadequate means at his disposal, Mr. Jessop started a work for them which proved successful out of all proportion to the funds at his disposal and later this expanded as funds were made available through the American and British friends from Australia whence came the largest number of the troops, and from other sources, so that a very large program was undertaken. When it was seen that this war work was to be concluded within a comparatively short time, the question arose as to what should be done for the civilians by the same organization that had been so successful with soldiers. The International Committee and the English National Council have agreed to supply workers for the civilian organization in Egypt, and the International Committee has sent one of its experienced leaders as the senior secretary.

Personnel

If a truly indigenous work is to be made permanent abroad no factor can compare in importance with that of finding and developing the strong native leadership. The key to an able leadership in these countries is an adequate American and Canadian staff qualified in the art of training men. The finding of men who are thus qualified is a task of increasing complexity. In view of the demands which are being made upon men with proper qualifications, there is always a shortage of the right type of these men. The Foreign Department has become convinced that preparedness is the only safe policy for meeting its personnel needs. To this end, plans have been set on foot to select likely men several years in advance of the probable date of sailing and guide their further training and experience in such a way as to ensure their maximum efficiency when the time of appointment arrives.

The Financial Problem at the Home Base

The outstanding feature of the year under review has been the splendid response by friends of the Foreign Work to the appeal for support in a great crisis. The fundamental point of policy during the year was the effort to broaden the base of support, that is, to increase the number of Associations who would gather funds from their own members and friends and send in to the treasury, and to enlarge the number of individuals, other than those contributing through Associations, who prefer to pay their pledges direct to New York. This task has been much more difficult than would appear on the surface. The organization of the Associations makes it impossible for those who are securing the income to reproduce some of the methods through which support is provided for the missionary work of the Churches. Each Church has a homogeneous character that is not duplicated in the Association. It holds stated meetings for worship, with giving as a recognized part of that worship; and provides, usually weekly, a platform and an outlet to which the Association has nothing comparable. The income of the Church as a whole is thus secured through semi-automatic processes at a very low cost. The Association, on the other hand, has a miscellaneous membership. It has usually no stated meetings, and the only method of getting support from its members is by making individual contracts for all subscriptions secured. This condition involves a type of organization and a measure of expense not necessary in the Church itself.

The progress which has been made in increasing the support of the Association Movement in a program of world-wide service is indicated by contributions from Associations and individuals in the following table:

	1905	1910	1915	1920
Associations.....	$72,654.17	$101,150.76	$166,900.15	$454,667.23
Individuals.....	77,613.61	117,166.76	249,536.02	715,046.03

A still more significant comparison is that of the number of Associations contributing: In 1915 there were 246; in 1919 327; in 1920 550. Provision is made in the budget of the Foreign Work for extending more fully a program of education in the Associations, and for broadening the base through better organization. There will have to be secured, however, in 1921, a much larger total sum from individuals and Associations than the sum received in 1920 from these same sources, and all efforts are being made by the Department for achieving this result.

GENERAL SERVICE DIVISION

The General Service Division includes all those bureaus serving departments in both the Home and Overseas divisions, as Association Men, Association Press, Building Bureau, Bureau of Records, Business Bureau (Treasurer's Office), and Personnel (Secretarial) Bureau.

Association Men

The official magazine of the movement in common with all publications of the day has faced the most difficult season of its history in expensive production in the high cost of paper, printing and engraving (the paper bill alone amounting to $52,574.27), cancellation of advertising and general contraction. It has successfully made its transition from the war to home service to the brotherhood so that every state committee but two has made its circulation a part of its own policy and program, recognizing the magazine as an educational cultivation medium. That it has become more and more a magazine for the membership is shown by the direct subscription of 1,958 members during the past year. at Fort Wayne, Ind.; lists of 1,558 from Houston, Texas; 1,548 from Dayton, O.; 1,171 through a club as an annual feature from Detroit, and one state committee alone securing 867 subscriptions. As an educational medium to give a broader grasp and understanding of the progress of the movement, a year's subscription to the magazine was represented in every $10 pledge or more made in the merger campaign at Buffalo.

Another department publication—Rural Manhood—has been combined with Association Men and is now regularly published as the Rural Manhood Edition of Association Men. This practice has been in operation for the third year with the student department through the Student Edition of Association Men. The entire message of the Association is now also being carried to 4,085 students in the United Y. M. C. A. Schools upon their own orders. The right of way campaign in the face of a national near-panic netted over 10,000 subscriptions. In every region an increase in subscriptions is shown, the gain in the Eastern region alone being 4,801, in line with the policy that is being generally adopted of a larger circulation of the magazine. A remarkable increase is being made in Canada. The policy of placing a capable field man in each region has been generally responsible for the increasing growth and increasing intelligence in reference to the use of the magazine.

Association Press

Association Press is the publication department of the International Committee for books and pamphlets, and as such is the medium for the publishing and distribution of its departmental literature—an important and growing function. Through its religious and life development literature Association Press has become a recognized force in the general religious field. Books with a Purpose cover a range of material as useful to all branches of church work as to that of the Association and they have further proved to be a stimulating and constructive influence in the forward movement of the nation. Its books provide the tools of a working library for Association and church leaders, community workers, Bible discussion groups, individuals interested in fundamental religious questions, in training methods, in social and international problems, and in a progressive everyday life program.

Building Bureau

From its inception in 1915, this Bureau has sought to clearly analyze the problems confronting Associations in the execution of their building programs and to adapt its service to assist in meeting these problems. The first marked expansion of the Bureau's program came with the adoption of the planning service which enabled a given Association to focus through the Bureau on its building enterprise, the accumulated experience of the Association Movement in the erection of Association buildings. This expansion has been heartily welcomed by the Associations, fifty-eight having retained the Bureau's service in the erection and alteration of sixty-eight buildings.

Because the atmosphere of a successful building depends very largely upon the furnishings and interior decoration, the Bureau, during the past year after careful study, has experimented, and with consultation has again enlarged its service to include the furnishings function as well as the planning. This new service includes the designing of furniture, floor coverings, color schemes and lighting fixtures, and the purchase and installation of the various items, where desired, in such a way as to secure the advantages of quantity buying. Connections have been made with manufacturers, jobbers and wholesalers that will effect an appreciable saving to the Associations using this service.

The Bureau is fortunate in having recently added to its staff one who has had an unusually extensive experience as a creator of designs for furniture and for interior decorative schemes, as well as for exhibits and pageant scenes of nation-wide interest. The staff is now composed of a group of men who have architectural, designing, engineering and business training and experience, together with extended Association experience in local fields. This combination of specialists has already proven to be very valuable to local Associations in meeting the problems involved in the planning and furnishing of Association buildings.

Bureau of Records

About half of the time of this Bureau is given to securing, tabulating, checking and otherwise preparing material for the annual issues of the Year Book, and the remainder of such time and effort is given to visualizing Association data as a whole, or by departments, by regions, by states and by various local Associations. In this latter service the past year, studies and computations for over 4,000 diagrams, historigrams, charts and graphs of various kinds were made and sent to the respective leaders—local, state, departmental and international. Efforts have steadily been made to improve the accuracy and dependability of Association data, and especially to visualize such facts as will aid leaders in more quickly appreciating the trend of the various phases of work, discover both weak and strong tendencies, and thus enable all to be the better able to plan future policies. The reduced budget for 1921 prevented the issue of one or more Bulletins as in former years, with their studies, charts and other helps for the Association Brotherhood.

Business Bureau

The chief function of the Business Bureau is to render service to the other departments of the International Committee in helping them serve more efficiently the Association Brotherhood in both the Home and Overseas (Foreign) Divisions. Its work is divided into three main groups:

1. The operation of the treasurer's office and accounting section where all the funds of the committee are received, disbursed and properly accounted for, including the investment of endowment funds and the allocation of the income.

2. Office management, which has to do with the operation of the general headquarters offices and branch offices, purchasing, employment, stenographic service, communications, transportation and information.

3. Is related to all other matters of general business of the committee, not included in the above, especially those of legal and corporate nature.

Historical Library

The accessions to the Historical Library during the year consist almost entirely of the printed books and pamphlets on the war work, with the current publications of the different departments of the International Committee. Duplicate material has been distributed to eleven libraries, Association and public, from which requests had been received. The classification and cataloguing of the war material is under way and it will be possible soon to make some constructive progress in developing the library on the lines laid down by its founder and donor, Mr. J. T. Bowne, and in widening its usefulness as a working reference library for the entire headquarters staff.

Personnel (Secretarial) Bureau

The Personnel Bureau is concerned with the whole program of personnel and cooperates with all personnel agencies of the Brotherhood. During 1920, 1,532 men became Association employed officers including 287 who had formerly been in this work, 1,193 left the Association work, and 21 died. During the same year 1,284 men were transferred from one Association or position to another, making a total of 4,030 changes in the personnel records. To fill new positions and for replacements, this Bureau was asked to suggest men for 1,043 vacancies. Personal interviews or correspondence was had with 1,277 available men of whom 453 or 35 per cent secured positions.

One secretary gives special attention to selective recruiting of college graduates for the secretaryship as a life work and stimulates the recruiting by local secretaries and by state personnel committees of high grade men. Another is assigned to represent the Bureau in the Central region, giving special attention to recruiting and placement in cooperation with state and local Associations. Another serves as field representative of the training centers in organizing and promoting them in the larger Associations. The best methods of modern pedagogy have been employed in the training processes worked out. The personal coaching of the visiting European, South American and Far Eastern secretaries in training methods is also a function of the Bureau. Through its secretaries it is responsible for the production of a considerable volume of much needed training literature of Association methods.

The senior secretary is giving special attention to the planning for and promotion of the Retirement Fund for Association employed officers and serves as secretary of the Board. Several of his staff have also aided this Board in visits to the field, by correspondence and otherwise helping to establish the Retirement Fund. The book, "Training a Staff," and much other valuable literature has recently been issued by the Bureau. Personnel Institutes have been promoted in six of the summer schools, and the Association reading courses have been administered. The Bureau is called on for considerable research work for important personnel committees and conferences and has a large share in the improvement of summer school methods of instruction. One of its staff recently gave five months to personnel work in Europe aiding in developing national policies for recruiting and training of secretaries.

THE STATE COMMITTEES

The first state committee was organized in 1866, and the first state secretary—Mr. S. A. Taggert—was called in 1871. From that time until the present the service of state committees and their secretaries has steadily increased both in numbers and efficiency to meet the needs of local Associations within their states. The 1920 Year Book reports 41 state organizations with 274 state secretaries and assistants, $1,083,800 of net property and funds paid in and $1,283,400 of operating expenditures for the large work done in the United States.

These state organizations are formed and maintained within a state by the delegates from local Associations to the state conventions in a manner corresponding to that of the International Convention. Their service to the local Associations and in connection with the problems of the state is as a rule closer and more in detail than that of the International Committee. The 1,092 members of these state organizations, many of whom are presidents or other officers of local Associations, in addition to organizing and aiding the local Association in the state, conduct a vast and increasing amount of state-wide work such as the following, reported in the 1920 Year Book:

1. The conduct of 18 state camps largely for boys, attended by 5,940 boys and men, and with 781 decisions for the christian life.
2. 96 state boys' conferences with 20,767 delegates and 2,851 decisions for the christian life.
3. The Hi-Y work with its 38,034 members, and their 1,973 decisions for the christian life, is largely promoted by the state boys' secretaries.
4. The campaigns for sex education, thrift, evangelism, and other uplifting features.
5. To further develop the work within a state, districts or sections of states are organized, now numbering about 100 districts in 20 states, in which the state committees strive to strengthen and intensify the work of a district corresponding somewhat to the help given by regional committees in their larger territories.

These 41 state organizations, in their operating expenditures, continue steadily to outdistance the International Committee in its home work expenditures. The development of state work presents a helpful growth full of benefit to the local Associations who respond with their sympathy and support. The regional organization, combining as it does the cooperative efforts of both the State and International Committee, and now only in its infancy, will strongly promote the further development of state work.

Similarly in the Dominion of Canada the National Council together with the four territorial divisions—Western, Central, Ontario, Maritime—in the 1920 Year Book reported 222 National Committee men, $71,500 net property, and $348,700 operating expenditures, in developing the work of the various Associations and Provinces in their most difficult reconstruction period.

THE LOCAL ASSOCIATION

The Basic Unit of the Movement

In the local Association, the Movement—state, national, international, inter-racial, and worldwide—had its origin. For the development of the local unit all other elements in the Movement exist and function. A local Association is a distinct organization among men and boys whose board of directors is composed of men who are members of, and who also are elected by members of evangelical churches.

Born in the spirit of Christ seventy-seven years ago, in the hearts of twelve young city business men who were prompted by their desire to associate their efforts for the extension of Christ's Kingdom among young men, this basic unit with its simple Christian foundation has gradually developed and extended to all the leading cities of the world and to all classes of men and boys—city, student, railroad, industrial, army, navy, colored, country, Indian, and racial. In the United States and Canada alone these local units have grown to over 2,200 in 1920, with a membership of nearly a million men and boys, and with net Association property and funds of over $121,000,000.

The evolution and internal development of the basic unit is seen in the continual addition to its growing religious efforts, of those educational, physical, social, recreative and economic features—all of which when permeated by the spirit of Christ, aim to develop symmetrical Christian manhood and boyhood. Experience shows that in proportion as the central Christian objective has dominated and permeated the varied features of a local unit, the results have been most beneficial to men, to the city, the Church and the nation.

In North America these local units had their beginning among city business men in Montreal and Boston in 1851, and these city Association units have developed in all large cities until their work now includes 74.8 per cent of the entire work of the North American Movement. Local units among students beginning in 1857 in the University of Virginia, have developed in all the leading colleges and professional schools and their work now comprises 6.6 per cent of the whole. Local units among railroad men, beginning in 1872 in Cleveland, now include all of the larger centers for railroad men east of the Rockies, and comprise 7.5 per cent of the total. To these railroad branches the Transportation Department is now adding branches for sailors and merchant marine employees in the port cities. Local units among colored young men, beginning in Washington in 1853, now operate a work which comprise 4.0 per cent of the whole; army and navy local units, beginning in 1898 in the Spanish-American War, now comprise 3.0 per cent; county work beginning in 1889 in Nebraska, now includes 3.6 per cent; and the work among Indians, beginning in 1881 in South Dakota, now makes 0.5 per cent of the Movement. Specialized work among boys under eighteen years of age, beginning officially in Massachusetts in 1890, has developed so that boys now comprise 23.5 per cent of the total Association membership; and specially adapted service among industrial workers beginning officially in 1903, has so developed as to involve nearly one-fifth of the total membership. Beyond the local units of various kinds, forms of extension and community work in both the city and country are further indications of the growing vitality of the local Association.

The local units of all classes experienced a sudden expansion in the Association war service of recent years, which has been followed by an equally sudden contraction, the effect of which has been to largely increase the membership and also both the volunteer and the employed workers. Upon the activity and cooperation of these volunteer and paid officers, the growth of not only the local unit but the Movement as a whole depends. The Christian volunteer workers in the directorate and on working committees, continue to increase with the volume of the Movement, thus maintaining control, authority and responsibility in the laymen of the Church and the Association.

Never was the call so numerous or so urgent as now for the manning of these local units by men of character, ability and training to give their lives in Christ's name and spirit to this work among young men and boys.

TRAINING AND RECRUITING AGENCIES

The continuing growth of the Associations in Canada and the United States, both extensive and intensive, causes persistent and enlarging demand for Association employed officers, both to fill vacancies caused by men leaving the service, as well as to occupy new positions created by the growth of the Movement. New positions have opened at the rate of 224 per year for each of the past ten years, and the average turn-over of men leaving the Association service during this period was 986 per year.

The demand for qualified, carefully selected and trained men as employed officers is even more important than the demand for numbers of men, great as is that demand. The increasing number and variety of Association features, and the expanding specialization, the growing magnitude of the work in its varied departments—an increase of over fifty per cent in the past decade—all combine to require much stronger and far better equipped men to master the Association's problem and administer its programs than was necessary even ten years ago.

The North American Associations now have three standard agencies for training Association employed officers—the Association Colleges for thorough professional training, the Association Summer Schools as continuation schools for men already in the service, and Association Training Centers for the training of the Association staff through the year. The Colleges at Springfield and Chicago have graduated respectively 33 and 23 classes, and these graduates and other former students who have taken one year of college work, now constitute about eleven per cent of the 5,200 employed officers reported in the Association Year Book of 1920. The Nashville College has not yet graduated its first class. The three Colleges enrolled 360 students in 1920. The nine Summer Schools enrolled about forty per cent of the employed officers in the summer of 1920. The Training Centers are now conducted in nearly fifty of the stronger Associations on the Home and Foreign fields and enroll about 700 students. The Associations possess in these training agencies an asset of highest value to the future secretarial leadership of the Movement, but do not as yet seem to take them as seriously as they should. When they do this, they will make provision for lifting these agencies to a plane more nearly adequate to meet the need.

For over forty years the International Committee has had a solicitude for, and has made provision in its program for the recruiting and training of Association employed officers as evidenced in the service of its Personnel Bureau. The recruiting program of the North American Associations has been chiefly that of natural selection—the Association securing men where they could and as they needed them. There is a great need of an adequate program of selective recruiting, as has been shown in a limited way by the Association Colleges and by the Fellowship Plan. For lack of such an adequate program and standards of selective recruiting in the past, both the Associations and the Movement have suffered. In self defence and as an insurance for steadily increased efficiency in service, a comprehensive and effective recruiting policy should be inaugurated and maintained at strength by the Movement. This policy should be able to recruit young men of character, ability and personality, not only direct to vacancies on Association staffs, but also to the Association Colleges for extended professional training. A thorough-going method of certification as is now under consideration will be a decided step in advance.

Much has been accomplished through the Annual Conference on the Association Profession, in which for the past ten years representatives of the Association Employed Officers Conference, the Personnel Bureau of the International Committee, and the various Training Agencies, have progressively cooperated for higher standards and better methods of recruiting and training. The ultimate responsibility in recruiting, however, rests with the local Associations. The demand creates the supply, and when the Associations insist on employing only men of standard qualifications, specially selected and trained for their work, they will have taken the first long step toward securing such men.

ASSOCIATION WAR WORK

The American Young Men's Christian Association has continued during the year ended April 30, 1921, its reconstruction service and its ministry to soldiers and sailors both at home and abroad.

The National War Work Council which dissolved on the 8th day of March, 1921, endeavored during its last year of service to so direct its efforts and organization as to gradually turn over to the permanent Association movement those features of the war work which were obviously permanent. Through the cooperation of local Associations, State committees, and the Home and Overseas divisions of the International Committee, it will therefore be possible at the close of 1921 for the essential features of this great work to be continued in its greatly reduced form by the existing permanent Association agencies. There follow very brief reports of the service at home and overseas, and the resolutions dissolving the War Work Council.

I. AT HOME

Brief Survey

Service to men of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps in this country passed through the final stages of a transition from the war time organization to a peace basis during the six months from May to December, 1920. Of the seven departments or areas under which the work had been administered some were consolidated and the executives returned to previous responsibilities. The gradual reorganization of the work was along the lines of the permanent plans of the Army and Navy department of the International Committee to which department the War Work Council has committed the responsibility of promoting and supervising its work with American forces at home during the calendar year 1921.

It will be remembered that when the War and Navy Departments of the United States took over welfare work on military and naval reservations, specific exemption was made at certain points where the Army and Navy Association had carried on its work prior to the war in its own buildings erected by special official permission. Work has therefore been continued at the following points: Fort Hancock, N. J.; Forts Tilden, Totten, Hamilton, Jay and Slocum, N. Y.; Fort Monroe, Va.; Fort Leavenworth, Kans.; the Presidio at San Francisco; Fort Wm. McKinley, P. I.; League Island Navy Yard, Philadelphia; Naval Stations of Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, and Coco Solo, Canal Zone.

The National War Work Council has also been responsible for service at forty-five Army and Navy centers not on military or naval reservations, and there are twenty-one city and state Associations under whose auspices work with ex-service men has been carried on through aid of the War Work Council, secretaries and funds being furnished. This has included work with men on leave, in hospitals, or in vocational training at such points as Carlisle, South Carolina; St. Louis; Riverside, California; Tacoma, and through the state committees of Kentucky and North Carolina.

City Associations serving men in uniform in relatively small numbers have been reimbursed by the Council on the basis of the number entertained in their buildings. Work begun before the war in the national guard encampments, not held on military reservations, has been aided by cooperation with state committees and some aid has also been given to state committees, in connection with the emergency mobilization of state forces. Cordial letters of approval from commanding admirals have testified to the value of the service rendered to the Atlantic and Pacific fleets when in foreign ports, this being accomplished by the cooperation of the Council with the local Associations in these foreign countries. When both fleets were on war practice in southern waters and were given leave in the Canal Zone the Association was the gathering place for the 10,000 sailors on shore, and the organization to which they turned for every possible assistance from mailing packages to sight-seeing trips.

Educational

Five million dollars of the war fund were set aside to aid ex-service men in completing studies interrupted by the war or in further preparation that would help them to fit back into civilian life. Committees all over the country composed of members of the American Legion, citizens interested in education, and Association secretaries have aided in selecting the beneficiaries, considering candidates from nearly every county in the country. The students coming from every state and taking all manner of training from elementary to the most technical now number over eighty-one thousand. Of these 12,473 have taken collegiate courses, 47,840 are studying in schools or in technical classes and more than twenty thousand are studying through correspondence. In all cases where the Association correspondence school gives what the men require, that school has been used, since much more can thereby be given the student for the same money and not being on a commercial basis, special personal attention is given to all who were for any reason in need of encouragement and stimulus.

Nearly two hundred Associations have carried out Americanization programs under grants from the war funds. These programs include classes in English, classes to prepare for naturalization, encouragement toward taking out naturalization papers, and lectures and entertainments especially chosen to give the foreign born an idea as to what is best in American life. This plan has so proved its value where the allotted funds have been used that the work is being largely continued under the local Associations. The service of employment bureaus and vocational guidance have been free to ex-soldiers in fifty-seven city Associations. This aid has reached over 16,000 men since the work opened in January, 1920. As an immediate result practically all the Associations where the work has been tried have adopted vocational guidance as part of their employment service. From the experience of these eighteen months there is being prepared a text book for vocational and employment service. In addition a number of city Associations have opened classes dealing with the question of life careers, and the records of this work are also taking form as a text book for such classes.

Interracial Service

The creation of a better understanding between the races in this country has long been a part of the Association program. This effort has been emphasized since the return of the colored troops by the work of the Interracial Commission. This commission has carried on its work during the past year in thirteen states of the South, organizing county committees of white and colored citizens, who are actively interested in bringing about better relations between the two races. At nine conferences of various organizations in the South, the Association has provided speakers in the interests of this movement, and the Commission has itself held conferences in Missouri, Tennessee, and three at Blue Ridge, North Carolina. These conferences gathered special groups of educators, leading women, editors, church leaders, business men and Association secretaries. In thirty colleges, lectures on this problem were given. Pamphlets have been published on different phases of the situation and a careful report made concerning all the welfare educational and religious agencies working among the negroes.

War Historical Bureau

This Bureau contains the records that have been deposited with the International Committee concerning the work in home camps, with the A. E. F., in the insular possessions and with the allied armies and prisoners of war. The Bureau was established in Paris, transferred to New York at the close of the work for the A. E. F. and to it have been added further records of the Association War Work, with all divisions and in various countries. In it will later be included the financial records of the Council. It now contains the original records of the welfare work with the largest armies in history. The accession file alone, in which have been systematized the more formal reports and articles, numbers more than 7,300 documents. The war photographs fill forty filing drawers. There is a large collection of war posters and maps and three filing drawers of newspaper clippings. The fourteen cabinets of overseas correspondence on the work with the A. E. F. have been carefully examined and digests made in preparation for the reduction of this mass of material. This material has been at the disposal of all those doing historical work for the Association, and outside writers, including authorities at Washington to whom much data has been furnished. The editorial staff preparing the War Work Summary and the larger history of the war services and the book on the entertainment department have been dependent on the accessibility of these records for the success of their undertakings.

Demobilized Personnel Bureau

This bureau has charge of the fifty-thousand folders gathered from headquarters and departmental offices, relating to individual service with the Association during the War, including the record of service of the individual at home and overseas. These have been largely reduced in volume by the elimination of unimportant papers and now stand as a permanent record of that service, immensely useful not only in case of any emergency where workers may be needed quickly, but frequently in use for reference in connection with the present Association personnel, all over the world. Over twenty thousand (21,183) certificates and pins have been issued by this department to paid and volunteer workers during the war. Distribution of the War Work Summary, the Inter-allied Games, Entertaining the A. E. F., and various pamphlets have been part of the work of this bureau, as well as the gathering of statistics in aid of the editorial department and the supplying of material for news service.

Insurance

Insurance has been provided for overseas workers under the War Work Council in two forms, the group life insurance with the Equitable Life Assurance Society of New York and the group accident and sickness policy with the Travelers Insurance Company, Connecticut. Since September 1918 when this group plan went into effect there has been a total of 6,366 secretaries covered by life insurance. This represents a total amount of insurance issued and in force of $22,281,000. On this the Association has paid premiums totalling $699,536.66. Not all secretaries sent overseas are covered in this group life plan for the reason that the life insurance of those who sailed prior to September 1918 was provided on a different basis. The group accident and sickness policy covered all the 12,955 secretaries who were overseas during the war and also those at present on the other side.

For the Association year from May 1st, 1920, to April 30, 1921—223 secretaries have been eligible for insurance protection. At present there are still 402 secretaries overseas representing total insurance of $1,407,000. The total number of secretaries, covered at this date, which includes those overseas and those who have returned and are still entitled to some portion of the ninety days coverage from the date of demobilization, is 486. Seven death claims of $3,500 each have been paid totalling $24,500 and one total and permanent disability coverage, also of $3,500. The total number of secretaries who have received compensation for total disability at $20.00 a week during the year is eighty. This compensation has been carried for a total of 4,160 weeks making an expenditure of $83,200. There are thirteen secretaries still receiving the total disability compensation, and sixteen secretaries have received the limit of the compensation payable under the contract, namely, for 100 weeks.

Adjustments and Special Allowances

The financial claims arising from the war work of the Association are of two sorts;—those coming through personal losses of either soldiers or secretaries or through misunderstandings or changes in the financial affairs of secretaries, and those which are due to illness not coming under the ruling of the insurance department. Under the first heading come losses of baggage and refunds through the remittance department and adjustments in discipline cases and in the expense accounts of secretaries who through misunderstanding or through family difficulties are in need of special consideration.

In the cases of illness there have been a few in which the insurance indemnity did not sufficiently protect the secretary and the family, as in protracted physical breakdown. A few secretaries also have broken down after the expiration of the period in which the insurance was operative or they have delayed application to the Association, not expecting the illness to require outside aid. In these cases the situation has been looked into through local physicians and others as thoroughly as possible. The reports have been submitted to our physicians at New York and when it has been definitely decided that the physical disability is due to the ex-secretary's war service a special grant has been made from month to month based on the monthly reports of the local physicians and, where possible, of the Association secretary in the locality.

II. DISSOLUTION OF THE NATIONAL WAR WORK COUNCIL

The following Preamble and Resolutions were adopted by The National War Work Council of the Young Men's Christian Associations, December 29, 1920. These were ratified, confirmed, and approved by the International Committee at its meeting February 10, 1921, and the Council was finally dissolved March 8, 1921.

Preamble

In view of the fact that immediately after the United States entered the World War the International Committee of Young Men's Christian Associations, on the recommendation of leaders in Association work—local, state, and international—created the National War Work Council of the Young Men's Christian Associations of the United States and committed to it responsibility for the general direction of the war work of the American Associations wherever carried on, and in view of the fact that the World War is now almost universally regarded as over and that the time has come to place all remaining work for soldiers and sailors and other classes which have been served by the War Work Council on a peace time basis, and, therefore, to relate such work, as far as possible, to the regular permanent agencies of the Association Movement, the Executive Committee of the National War Work Council considers that the time has come when the Council should relinquish further responsibility for the supervision and conduct of war work and be dissolved as an organization, and therefore recommends the adoption by the National War Work Council of the following plan:

Section 1.

(a) That the unallocated balance of National War Work Council funds (now estimated as $7,461,009) to be placed in the hands of a Board of ten Trustees, the personnel of which shall be as follows:

WILLIAM SLOANE
HAROLD I. PRATT
ROBERT GARRETT
JOHN L. SEVERANCE
CHARLES J. RHOADS

ALFRED E. MARLING
LEWIS A. CROSSETT
CYRUS H. MCCORMICK
JAMES LOGAN
JOHN R. MOTT

(b) This Board shall be known as the Trustees of the War Fund of the Young Men's Christian Associations of the United States of America, hereinafter called the Trustees. The Trustees shall serve until they shall have carried out the provisions of this report. Four of their number shall constitute a quorum. They shall have power to fill vacancies in their number due to death or other causes. The Trustees are empowered to make rules for the conduct of their business. Provision shall be made for taking a vote by mail when it is not considered necessary or expedient to call the Trustees together.

(c) The Trustees shall report to the International Conventions of the Young Men's Christian Associations of North America and in the interim annually to the International Committee of Young Men's Christian Associations of North America, hereinafter called the International Committee.

(d) The Trustees shall make investments suitable for trustees' funds and shall place the funds in charge of one or more trust companies or other qualified banking institutions for custody and will advise with one or more said institutions as to investments.

(e) The International Committee, through its Army and Navy Department, shall make a study of the field, and from time to time recommend to the Trustees where buildings should be erected and the probable cost thereof; whereupon, if the recommendations are accepted by the Trustees, an appropriation shall be made by them and paid over to the International Committee or to the Metropolitan Association by which the title is to be held in the manner to be agreed upon by the Trustees and the officers of the International Committee or the Metropolitan Associations, as the case may be.

(f) Money allocated by the Trustees for the erection and maintenance of permanent Y. M. C. A. buildings for the American Army and Navy shall be paid to the International Committee or to the Metropolitan Association which is to hold title to the property, approximately as is required for the purpose of acquiring such property or erecting such buildings.

(g) The Trustees shall at their discretion insert in their agreements with the International Committee and the Metropolitan Associations such clauses as may be thought necessary to permanently safeguard the funds appropriated.

(h) If, in the judgment of the Trustees named in subdivision (a) the incorporation of the Trustees shall be hereafter desirable, the said Trustees by action of a majority of them, are authorized at any time to incorporate under the membership laws of the State of New York, in such manner as they may be advised by counsel, with the understanding that the said corporation shall assume all the duties and obligations which were prescribed for the said Trustees, and shall bear the same relation to the International Committee of Young Men's Christian Associations with reference to the whole situation as the Trustees would have in case the incorporation had not been had, and in case of such an incorporation the said Trustees are authorized to make, transfer and set over to the said corporation any and all money, securities and property in their hands, and the receipt of the duly accredited officers of such corporation shall release the said Trustees as to any and all property thus turned over, and the said Trustees shall, after such conveyance, be relieved from any further obligation or responsibility in connection with the aforesaid trust.

(i) The Trustees may fill any vacancies in the Liquidation Committee caused by death, accident, ill health, or otherwise.

Section 2.

(a) That the unallocated balance of funds of the National War Work Council of the Young Men's Christian Associations (now estimated as $7,461,009) be divided as follows: one-half to be devoted to the erection, equipment, maintenance and/or endowment of permanent Y. M. C. A. buildings for the use of the men in the American Army and Navy, and one-half to be devoted to a reserve fund to be held for meeting needs of soldiers and sailors at home or abroad created by any national emergency.

(b) The income from the Reserve Fund and also from any temporarily unemployed part of the building fund shall be used for the erection, equipment, maintenance and/or endowment of permanent Y. M. C. A. buildings for the American Army and Navy, or for such other purposes in the Army and Navy work of the American Young Men's Christian Associations as the Trustees may consider will best fulfill the intent of the donors. If it should be found later that the War Work Council had underestimated its liabilities, or that the sums appropriated by it for the specific purpose of the approved budget were insufficient, the Trustees may make appropriations to meet the situation.

(c) If, after three years (that is, after January 1, 1924) all or any part of the Reserve Fund shall not have been required for meeting national emergencies, such remaining sum shall be devoted to the erection, equipment, maintenance and/or endowment of the permanent Y. M. C. A. buildings for the American Army and Navy, or for the support of the regular work for soldiers, sailors, or marines of the United States in accordance with provisions of Section 1. If, by January 1, 1928, any portion of the fund remains in the hands of the Trustees unallocated, it shall be turned over to the International Committee to be used in accordance with the terms of this report.

(d) If, in the opinion of the Trustees, before January 1, 1928, or of the International Committee after that date, any unexpended portion of this fund cannot reasonably be used for the purposes mentioned in this report, then the use of such unexpended portion of the fund shall be referred to the next ensuing International Convention, which, upon such reference, shall have full power to dispose of such unexpended portion of the fund.

(a) The responsibility for the budget expenditures which have been authorized by the Executive Committee of the National War Work Council of the Young Men's Christian Associations shall be intrusted to a Liquidation Committee of five members of the present Executive Committee, viz., Messrs. Lucien T. Warner, Roger H. Williams, Wm. H. Crosby, John Sherman Hoyt, and Charles W. McAlpin, which Committee shall be responsible to the Trustees of the War Fund and shall work in close conjunction with the Army and Navy Department of the International Committee in reference to expenditures for the American Army and Navy and with the Committee on Allied Armies and Prisoners of War, in reference to expenditures related to that Committee.

(b) The funds for these budget expenditures shall be held by the Trustees and shall be paid over from month to month to the Liquidation Committee in amounts approximately as needed on the basis of the adopted budgets and commitments for both 1920 and 1921 as approved. The Liquidation Committee shall also be empowered to carry out contracts with workers and others to complete pieces of work for which specific appropriations have been made or reserves set aside and to adjust and settle claims.

(c) Funds in the hands of the disbursing officers of the present War Work Council will be transferred by book entry and placed to the credit of the Trustees on the books of the Liquidation Committee, these amounts to be verified by the cash audit of Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Company.

(d) Resolved that the Liquidation Committee of the Trustees of the War Fund of the Young Men's Christian Associations of the United States be and hereby are authorized to open an account in the Equitable Trust Company, New York, and that authority to sign checks against this account be granted to Charles H. Burr, Treasurer, and B. B. Baldwin, Deputy Treasurer, or either of them when countersigned by any one member of the Liquidation Committee composed of Messrs. Lucien T. Warner, Roger H. Williams, Wm. H. Crosby, John Sherman Hoyt, and Chas. W. McAlpin, or to any two members of the above named Liquidation Committee, and be it further resolved that the Equitable Trust Company be and hereby is authorized to accept the signature of any one of the above names on checks of two hundred and fifty dollars or less.

(e) Any funds not eventually required for the completion of work, or for the fulfillment of other objects for which appropriations have been made or reserves set aside, shall be turned back by the Liquidation Committee to the Trustees to be used by the latter for any of the purposes set forth in Sections 1, 2 and 3.

(f) It is intended that the Liquidation Committee, by working in close cooperation with the Army and Navy Committee and the Committee on Allied Armies and Prisoners of War of the International Committee, shall make it possible for these two Committees to be so thoroughly in touch with the whole operation that by December 31, 1921, when the Liquidation Committee shall automatically go out of existence, these two permanent Committees may take over any remaining work with the least possible adjustment and change.

(g) The Liquidation Committee shall, as soon as possible after the close of its work on December 31, 1921, render to the Trustees final accounting and an audited statement of its transactions in fulfillment of the provisions of this Section.

(h) Be it further resolved that this action be submitted forthwith to the International Committee of Young Men's Christian Associations and that the International Committee of Young Men's Christian Associations be requested to ratify, confirm and approve the action taken, and to take such action as is necessary to dissolve the National War Work Council in accordance with these resolutions.

III. OVERSEAS

As a continuation of the war work the Association has carried service during the past twelve months to the 2,750,000 soldiers of our Allies still under arms; to the prisoners of war, to more than 200,000 Russian and Armenian refugees; to the American Navy in the Mediterranean; to our merchant seamen in eight European ports; and to our troops about Coblenz. The work in Egypt has been taken over by the British Association. In charge of the central office, removed in September from Paris to Geneva, is Mr. D. A. Davis. With him have been associated eighteen senior secretaries in charge of the work in the different countries, and some two hundred fellow workers almost all of whom had served either with the A. E. F. or the prisoners of war. These men have had a unique opportunity to hold up an ideal of disinterested service and to give practical aid in the name of Christ. But the work they have instituted has aimed beyond the giving of relief, to the awakening of hope in the despairing; and in the embittered, a belief in human brotherhood. These aims lie behind and make worth while the following bare statements of the more obvious accomplishment in each country.

A. F. G.

The service to our army around Coblenz, has continued under Mr. James A. Sprenger. There have been about 120 secretaries evenly divided between men and women; and nineteen different huts, ranging from the Festhalle at Coblenz to the small hut at the Antwerp docks. Two gymnasiums, three swimming pools, tennis courts, boxing rings, athletic outfit and the athletic field of Carnival Island which includes baseball, football, and a running track, are provided by the Association. The details of the many meets between the champions of the three Armies of Occupation, the units of the A. F. G. and other athletic organizations have all been under the care of the Association.

The entertainments provided each week for every hut have included an American stock company, vaudeville, concert parties and orchestras. An average of 180 musicians are constantly employed and thousands of pieces of music are distributed to the huts. Some 9,400 cinema programs have been shown during the year. Every hut has a cafeteria service, where the soldiers buy American food at cost. To supply this the Association has a large ice cream plant and a bakery, producing about two tons of supplies each day—bread, rolls, pies, and all manner of small cakes. Newspapers are distributed in the two hospitals and detached units. Each hut has a small library loaned from the central library at the Festhalle, Coblenz. The educational work started by the Association was taken over by the army but, at the request of the army, the Association has conducted a school for the children of American officers and civilians.

The secretaries, both men and women, from all the departments have shared in the religious work. When no chaplain nor special speakers were available the women secretaries, entertainers and business men have led the services and given the Sunday addresses. Pamphlets on religious topics are supplied in every hut, the men taking them as they choose, and Bible classes have been well attended. The success with which the Association has met the needs of the troops may be judged by the following extract from one of many letters from the officers:

"The whole atmosphere of your organization and the character of its personnel, their attention to duty, and everything connected with the Y. M. C. A. is entirely worthy of and up to the standard which we all feel our Government has the right to expect from its representatives over here. It is impossible to estimate in money value the good that the "Y" has done and is doing for our men, and I believe that if our people at home could see this work and know what the Y. M. C. A. and kindred organizations are actually doing, they would not only be glad to have the work continued but would give it their moral and financial support and would demand that it be continued."

DAVID L. STONE,
Col. General Staff, U. S. Army,
Interallied Rhineland High Commission.

Navy

Service to the navy has been confined to Venice, Spalato, Vienna and Constantinople. The station at Vienna has closed, so few men now going there on leave. The work in Italy has taken five secretaries, two women and three men. At Venice and Spalato there has been an average of 300 sailors daily. The Italian Government has given the most cordial assistance, one special courtesy being the placing at the disposal of the Association an airship for the use of parties of American sailors. It is expected that the work at Venice and Spalato will close shortly, with the withdrawal of the Adriatic fleet. The headquarters office at Rome was open until January, serving many Americans, often soldiers on leave from the A. F. G.

The Sailors Club at Constantinople has become one of the outstanding pieces of work of the Association, it serves fully 1,200 men a week and is always crowded. Five secretaries, two men and three women are on duty. Sight seeing parties and shopping tours feature largely in the work. There is a large cafeteria service, a library, and much is made of getting the magazines from America as promptly as possible. Packages of books and magazines are now provided for each vessel leaving port. Parties for church services are made up, secretaries going to the steamer for the men. The men are looked after in the hospitals and very often this leads to correspondence with the families at home. The sailors joined the secretaries and other Americans in aid to the thousands of Russian refugees coming into the city after Wrangel's defeat, and at Christmas in providing gifts which they took themselves to the children in the hospitals. Teas for the sailors at the homes of the American residents are now an ordinary part of the social life of the American colony. There is little space for athletics—plans are on foot for a leave area some distance outside the city where all sorts of field sports may be enjoyed.

Merchant Marine

Service to the American merchant marine in Great Britain has been carried on in affiliation with the Red Triangle Hospitality League. Secretaries have been working at Glasgow, Edinburgh, Grenoch, Southampton, with hostels at London and Liverpool. A strong feature of the work at Liverpool is the street patrol service of Miss Fisher, the American secretary on whose aid the Liverpool police have learned to depend. The MacFarlane Hotel in London which was opened during the war is far from the docks, but it is giving good service to the men of the navy as well as to seamen. There has been during most of the year a small hut at the Antwerp docks and in France there are seamen's hotels, at Brest, Le Havre and Bordeaux.

Immigration

Work under the Immigration Department has been opened at Prague, at Buchs, Switzerland, at Delle, Modane, Cherbourg and Le Havre and at the St. Lazaire station in Paris, through which the immigrants pass on their way to the ports. Our concern is chiefly with ex-service men of the various countries which we have been serving. Cherbourg, now the largest immigrant port in Europe, is the headquarters of this work, Delle no longer being an immigrant station, that work has closed. The experiment has been tried, on a steamer from Greece, of having a secretary travel with the immigrants, a plan which may have further developments.

The service is, of course, almost entirely that of personal advice and assistance. The Association secretary is looked upon as the one friend in an unfriendly world. Through connections at New York and in different cities in this country it is possible to direct these people to immediate guidance on this side. The Y. W. C. A. is putting in secretaries to take care of the women and children, the two organizations carrying on their work together.

Prisoners of War and Refugees

The work for the Russian refugees in Constantinople and Esthonia and that for the prisoners of war in Siberia is noted under other sections. There were still in France in May, 1920, some 30,000 Russian soldiers with whom the Association had been carrying on recreational and educational work during the war. This work continued with eight secretaries overseeing 64 foyers until the last of the men sailed for home in January of this year. In Germany there were still in June of last year about 200,000 Russians who had been six years from their homes. After the Polish drive about 120,000 refugees and soldiers were added to these.

The work in the old prison camps has been the continuance of that organized during the aiding of camp committees to carry out their own educational and entertaining programs. The marked feature in all these camps has been the eagerness to learn. Illiteracy has been reduced from 75 per cent to 5 per cent, a most remarkable showing, accounted for by the fact that the camp committees refused to permit a man to be cleared for return home until he could read. The ordinary trades have been taught, and a well equipped technical school with an American secretary in charge is in operation; the students are voluntarily staying in Germany to complete the training that will make them teachers of mechanics in their own land.

All the year these prisoners have been returning to Russia by steamer from Stettin to Narva, while out from Russia through the same port were coming the German prisoners and people of all the lands of Middle Europe. In December over 22,000 Russians and more than 11,000 Germans and others passed through this port. Association secretaries were on transports; in the fortress of Narva where those coming out of Russia were held; and outside the city limits where the Russians were herded. Many women and children were in this host, and the work meant the supplying of barbers, baths, laundry, sewing rooms, cobblers tools and often food and the care of babies and children.

The prisoners are now practically out of Germany but there remain seven camps of refugees, men, women and children. By an arrangement with the Quaker Mission the Association has opened kitchens to feed the children, thus setting the minds of the fathers and mothers at rest so that they may take up occupations. Through the International Red Cross, materials and clothing have been secured and workrooms are now open, trades taught and classes in various studies organized as in the prison camps.

To aid in obtaining a better knowledge of the geographical distribution of this important and wide spread war work service the following brief reports from various countries are given.

Siberia

During the summer and autumn the Association in Siberia continued the work with the Czecho-Slovak troops awaiting transport and the prisoners of war at Nikolsk-Ussurisk. In May there were more than five thousand of these prisoners, and their number increased daily during the summer. The same methods were used here as in the camps in Germany, save that an important feature was the coffee houses opened by the Association, which were imperative to eke out the scanty food supply. The calming effect of all these activities on these desperate men is told in the letters of the prisoners themselves. During the autumn and winter they have been gradually repatriated. Five thousand were to sail in April but some 20,000 are yet expected in from the west. The work at Vladivostok and Harbin has developed into well established city associations with three buildings each, organized Russian committees and a paid membership. These Associations care for the prisoners of war and refugees as they arrive and depart. That at Vladivostok also serves men of the U. S. Navy. An interesting feature of the civilian work has been the garden clubs, organized in the schools, and the exhibit and the canning demonstrations that closed the summer's work. This was something unknown in Siberia and met with great enthusiasm.

Esthonia

The Association entered Esthonia through its work for prisoners at the port of Narva. The thousands of Russian refugees fleeing into Esthonia during the revolution of 1917 had made a desperate situation for a land already impoverished. Hundreds of Russian children, 60 per cent of them orphans, were among these Russian refugees and the Esthonian Government appealed to the Association for aid in caring for them. In the summer of 1920, in accordance with this request fifteen schools were opened throughout the country. This led to boy's work and then to athletics for the Esthonian army. The work is at present carried on by six American secretaries with buildings and regular army work at Reval and Dorpat and with extension work in the small towns. The war ministry has asked the Association to open a school for physical trainers in the army and all the police are ordered to exercise regularly in the Association gymnasium. In Dorpat the classes at the gymnasium run continuously from eight in the morning till half past nine at night.

A school has been opened for Scout Masters and a training class for leadership in Christian work. In the Association schools a New Testament is given to every child and the archbishop and the clergy are thoroughly in sympathy with the religious side of the Association's work.

Latvia

Work with the forty thousand Latvian troops still guarding the Latvia border began last August. It met with the warmest response from the prime minister and commander-in-chief. By December five centers were open with three American secretaries and Latvian aids in charge. The immediate popularity of the athletic program led the Colonel of the military school to request the Association's physical director to train 24 soldiers for a fortnight two hours a day as an exhibit of the system. The results of this experiment so impressed the officials that the minister of war appointed a commission of three officers to work out, with the Association, a system for physical training in the army. The educational program has been successful, the soldiers being eager for classes and the Government and university authorities cooperating in a wide course of lectures. The attendance at these lectures during February was over twenty thousand. Four Latvian pastors have become interested sufficiently to hold services in the Association, but in the matter of direct religious effort it is necessary to move slowly since the oppression of these people by autocratic rulers who made use of ecclesiastical as well as political influence has left them with a distrust of all organized religious effort.

Poland

The work in Poland was at its height in June, 1920, with forty huts and buildings and eight rolling canteens, and forty-six American secretaries. Then came the Bolshevik drive during which all the force of the Association was directed to aid the soldiers on the battle lines and to service for the men going to the front, for the wounded, and for the refugees.

On the retreat of the Bolshevik the regular Association work started again with twenty-seven points open in September, rolling canteens for the moving troops, and a large hospital service. This work has continued steadily with at present twenty-five American secretaries and a large force of Polish men and women. Polish women secretaries have been used from the beginning of the work, filling the same place as did our American women with the A. E. F.

A great feature has been made of small pamphlets and cards giving stories of the history of Poland and of her great men. The cinema has been largely used for instruction in hygiene and for teaching the people how to guard against typhus. An excellent library system has been carried on with loan libraries in all the huts from our central library at Warsaw. Recently the minister of education has offered funds from his budget if the program could be increased. The physical director of the Association was training the men for the Antwerp Olympic Games, but the invasion prevented any from taking part. The training of officers for physical directors of the army is in the hands of the Association and there are also classes for boys, for the school teachers, and for university men.

In Warsaw besides the officer's club and Eagle Hut for the soldiers, there has lately been opened a student's foyer and work for students is carried on in three other cities. At Lodz at the special request of the employers, cinema exhibits are given for workmen and their families. A small hut has been opened at Puck for the navy and the minister of railways has offered funds for the building of a hut for railway men.

The retreating Bolshevik left some 24,000 prisoners in Poland and 25,000 Ukrainians are still interned there. The situation of the prisoners in Poland has been most desperate, since it has been impossible for the impoverished country to supply their needs. Before the Association could start any program of occupations and entertainment, food and clothing were absolutely necessary. The exchange of prisoners began in March, immediately on the signing of the peace between Russia and Poland, and the Association had arranged for service at the three main points of exchange.

France—Foyer du Soldat

In May, 1920, there were 145 Foyers with a daily attendance of over 28,000. These increased until November when there were 126 with a personnel of 31 Americans under Mr. A. W. Hanson, and 241 French directors and directresses. Although the majority of the Foyers are for the soldiers in the barracks in France, along the Rhine in Salonica and in Constantinople, work has been opened for the sailors at eleven points and for ex-service civilians at several other points. The training of the 75 men for the Olympics at Antwerp was under the direction of the American secretaries. Athletics under the Foyers is being introduced into the high schools, beginning in the Lycee Henri IV. Boys work is a great part of all the civilian Foyers, this being especially necessary on account of the great number of fatherless boys in France. One of the effective pieces of work was at the summer camps carried on by the Government for the children of the devastated areas. At Damme-Camiers, where twelve thousand children were cared for during July and August, all the recreational work was handed over to the Foyers, three directresses of the Y. W. C. A. assisting with the girls. There was here an opportunity to give teachers and nurses from all over France instruction in the Foyer methods of physical training.

Most of the civilian Foyers are in the devastated regions and are community centers, with women and men secretaries meeting so far as possible the needs of the whole population. This often includes medical aid, a restaurant, bathing facilities as well as the usual program of athletics, lectures, classes, games, reading rooms and social activities. At the Industrial Exposition at Lille last summer, the Association was given a gold medal for its reconstruction work.

The Chinese in France

Twenty thousand Chinese laborers still remained in France in the spring of 1920. In November the Association was then carrying on work at 101 centers with 56 secretaries. The number of laborers has decreased and the new budget has cut the work this year to 30 centers with 19 secretaries, and a large number of committee men and volunteer leaders from among the laborers themselves. The effect of the Foyers has been marked and the feeling between the French and the Chinese has steadily improved. On the two great Chinese festivals, the national fete and the New Year, their celebrations were attended by enthusiastic French audiences. In Havre a private French company employing these laborers has put up a brick hut for the use of the Association.

Gambling and opium smoking, the two great vices of the camps, have been greatly reduced. Classes are held in French, mathematics, geography, physiology, history and lectures on all sorts of present day topics have had good audiences. The main teaching, of course, has been for the illiterates and a large proportion of the men have received a diploma for the six hundred characters or the phonetic writing. This work is reaching a class of Chinese, whom it would have been difficult to reach in their own country and the difference between these men and the same class in China has been remarked by Chinese officials visiting the camps.

Turkey

The massacres of the Armenians during the winter of 1920 and the military movements of the French and Turkish troops, forced the closing of all the Association work begun in Eastern Asia Minor, save that at Adana and Aleppo and some aid to the trade school at Tarsus. About 100 boys took the training of the trade school during the summer.

At Adana the huts started last year in the two great refugee camps outside the city, were continued until the Armenians in the autumn were transferred to Deunt Tol. There the Association has made many efforts to be allowed to work with the refugees. All sorts of obstacles have been placed in the way, but a tent was finally opened in January. The Adana Boy's Camp during the summer of 1920 cared for some 250 boys from the orphanages. This was the first time that these boys had had any chance at free outdoor life since the war robbed them of their homes. The city Association serving young men of all nationalities has opened an athletic field opposite its rooms, and a small hotel, the only place in the city where the young men may find decent accommodations. All through the summer, this work for destitute and homeless folk was carried on under constant threat of attack and indeed under desultory fire, and for weeks the only communication with the outside world was by aeroplane.

In Constantinople the Association has had four centers; the Pera Association, the Stamboul Branch, the Sailors Club, already mentioned in the account of work for navy, and the Mayak for the Russian refugees, besides the foyers for the French and Algerian troops. The Pera Association has more than recovered its strength of before the war. The branch at Stamboul was opened in January. Last spring land on the sea of Marmora was provided by a prominent Turkish gentleman, for summer camp for boys, successor to that held last year at Derjinje. In June this camp welcomed the Russian boy scouts and 140 orphans under the Lord Mayor's fund. In July came 400 Armenians from the orphanages and in September 500 Turkish boys. The work for the Turkish boys awakened the greatest interest among the Turks, and its effects have been a cordiality to the Association and an enthusiasm for our program of physical training. Turkish boys are now using the Y. M. C. A. playground near the Mosque of St. Sophia and secretaries are holding classes for the Constantinople police.

In the Spring of 1920, the Association joined with the American Red Cross and the Near East Relief in aiding Russian refugees coming in from Odessa. A famous gambling club was taken over by the Association and opened as a community center for all the Russians. Its restaurant was the one place in the city where families could gather and get a meal at a reasonable price. A school for the children was organized on the model of the Russian gymnasium. Musicians were gathered into an orchestra and a concert company, even an opera being produced. The building was the center for all the Russian organizations and for the Boy Scouts and Girl Guides. In November after Wrangle's defeat came the 150,000 refugees from the Crimea. Our secretaries worked with the American Committee at Proti where every shipload landed for eighteen hours while the ship was cleansed. Cots were set up through the Mayak and a great soup kitchen in a tent in the yard and service for these distracted people went on day and night through November and December. They are now in five camps about Constantinople and at Gallipoli, Lemnos, St. Stephano and the service at the Mayak has come back to its old proportions with the addition of a trade school for boys, and an orphans home where 98 children are well cared for.

Greece

The change in the government of Greece has made no difference with the Association, which has always had the warmest support both from the officials and from the army. The work reached its highest point in November, 1920, when it was touching the troops on the most distant Asia Minor and Bulgarian fronts. Thirty-four huts were in operation with an average daily attendance of between four and five thousand men. The work in Greece has been especially difficult, being with continually shifting troops and over country without means of direct communication. Throughout the work, Greek soldiers have been largely used and trained with a view to the taking over of the Association work by the Army. With a reduction of the budget for 1921 the work is now confined to the three main points, Athens, Salonica and Smyrna. The army in Thrace is continuing the huts at its own expense.

Early in the summer of 1920 the great stadium of Athens was handed over to the Association and its physical director was asked to train the Royal Guards as an example of the Association's methods of physical training, and to give courses to the officers of the National Military Department of Athletics. Recently, in Athens, an athletic and recreation ground has been set aside by the Government for the use of the community under the Y. M. C. A.

Each hut has been provided with a phonograph, papers and magazines. Books have been supplied at the larger points. Most of the educational work among troops continually moving has of necessity been by means of lectures. The canteen has been a large feature on account of its social value. All the huts have provided coffee and loucoumis at cost and the men are content to sit for hours at the little tables visiting with each other and slowly sipping these inexpensive drinks. The relations of the Association with the Greek Church have been wholly cordial. Priests are frequent speakers and hold services in the huts each Sunday.

Roumania

The army work in Roumania opened two years ago under the warmest encouragement from the Queen and influential officials and army officers. It has had, however, great hindrances owing to political conditions and to the extremely strict discipline in the army, to which the freedom of the soldier in an Association building, was an entirely unknown idea.

Despite these difficulties the Association has awakened a real interest among the officers for the physical training of their men, and a bill has been put through Parliament, providing for a national program of physical education and some 500 officers have attended the Association training classes. As a result of a conference at Bucharest of the Association officers with the minister of public instruction, the chief of the Boy Scouts and various members of the university faculties, the minister of instruction issued an order that each school should send twelve picked boys to the Association for intensive physical training. For a short time a room was opened for the sailors coming into the port at Constanza. During the summer in connection with the Young Women's Christian Association, and at the request of the Government, a large playground was conducted in the factory section of Bucharest.

The Church is friendly to the Association work and priests take part in the dedication of the buildings. At the opening of the building at Bucharest General Michail, Chairman of the Roumanian Central Committee, made the address and dealt especially with the question of making the work permanent under Roumanian leadership. There are now five huts with an average daily attendance of 1,234, and with limited service at six outlying points.

Czecho-Slovakia

During the summer and autumn of 1920 the Czecho-Slovak troops, 66,000 of them, were coming back from Siberia after their six years of wandering and with them came the "American Uncles" who had worked with them in Siberia. Each transport was supplied by the Association at Vladivostok with phonograph, cinema outfit, athletic equipment, often with musical instruments and with various supplies for the comfort of the men on their long journey, and on most transports came an Association secretary.

In Czecho-Slovakia itself there were in June 71 huts with 75 American secretaries, the work being almost entirely with the troops. At the present time there are 51 Associations with 28 branches, 40 of these under Czech secretaries and the American personnel is reduced to 30. There having been little military or political disturbance in Czecho-Slovakia during the past twelve months, the Association has had the opportunity to lay firm foundations and take up the formal training of native secretaries. During last summer a successful Association school was carried on at Brno. At the end of 1920, Mr. Gethman, the senior secretary, writing of the year's work says: "It is a clean, balanced, aggressive, true to type Association movement, with a domestic personnel surprisingly well trained and merged into a real brotherhood."

At three points there is work with the refugees from the Ukraine and men are being trained who it is hoped may start Association work in their own land. A railroad Association serves the railroad post office men with their wives and families at Bratislava. Beginning has been made in rural work for which there is great need. In partnership with the Y. W. C. A. playgrounds for town children have been opened at Brno and Bratislava and Ziskov and, also in close connection with the Y. W. C. A., something has been done to relieve the wide spread want and actual suffering among the students. The Studentsky Domov at Prague has been built by the Association, the personnel being supplied by the Y. W. C. A. Here, nourishing meals are to be had at cost and the students find a warm, light place for the work and various conveniences not to be had in their unwholesome lodgings. Boys work was not formally organized till 1921, but has been carried on in the army huts wherever it would not interfere with the service and the soldiers. The Association athletics were represented at the great meet of the Sokols held at Prague in July, 1920, and training of the athletes for Antwerp was under the American physical director. Outdoor sports are a great feature of the service with the army.

Working with the Czecho-Slovak Red Cross, the two Associations have also aided immigrants at their point of departure from the country and through the efforts of our secretaries measures have been taken by the Government which have lessened the number of undesirables making the futile trip to distant ports. Catholic priests, protestant preachers and men of all shades of belief have lectured in the Association huts and their character talks have been an influential part of the program. The secretaries have carried on Bible classes. Thousands of New Testaments have been given away on request. Besides this some seven books such as Fosdick's "Meaning of Faith" have been translated by the Association.

Italy

Besides the stations for the navy at Venice and Apalato, work for the Italians has been carried on at Rome, Turin and Naples. In the early summer in response to a request from the Italian Government one of the Association's physical directors had charge of training the Italian team for the Olympics at Antwerp. The work for Italian ex-service men is now continued at Rome, Turin and Naples. At Rome a work for boys is being organized. In Naples there is a student's hostel in connection with the work of the Student's Federation. In Turin the Association has purchased an excellent building and is organizing regular city Association work.

Portugal

After the work with the Portuguese soldiers in France during the war, the Association went back to Portugal with the troops at the request of the officers.. Four huts are open—at Lisbon, Porto and Coimbra. These are cared for by four American secretaries with a staff of six Portuguese helpers. The Portuguese soldiers do not take naturally to sports, but, at Lisbon where the Association is working with a group of high school boys, it is found easy to interest them in athletics. The canteen is an important factor in this work since the food of Portuguese soldiers is poor. Coffee and white bread and cheese sandwiches may be had in the huts at cost. A great point is made of lectures on hygiene, and by means of selling the leave permit blanks at cost in the huts, the soldiers are kept away from the cafes where they have formerly had to go to get these. The work is warmly supported by the Minister of War and the officers take great pains to be present at the huts on special occasions.

NOTE: Of the $155,487,400 of gross Association property reported above, the following property values are owned by corporations and loaned for use of the Association: City Associations, including Industrial, $2,027,800; Railroad, $2,581,700; Colored, $55,800. The business and club features mentioned in income and expenditures, include restaurant, dormitory, camp, baths, barber, laundry, tailor, etc.—those things that pertain to the eating, sleeping, grooming and economic service for the individual.

The total population of Canada and United States is now approximately 115,900,000; and the Association population (the people living in places with Associations) 44, 914,000.

SUMMARY B—DATA BY GROUPS OF ASSOCIATIONS

From Tables II to XIV and Summaries E to R inclusive. To avoid duplication the Student group includes Associations in all Educational institutions other than Colored or Indian; the Colored group includes all Associations among Colored men and boys; the County group includes the County Committees and the local regular or fully organized Associations under supervision of County Committees; the General and Training Agencies include the International, State and Canadian Committees, Association Colleges, and Summer Schools. The City column includes the data reported for Community and Industrial work.

*NOTE:—In large City Associations with many courses, classes and subjects, the total enrollment is from 20% to more than 50% greater than the number of different students. The number of different students (counting no one twice), rather than the total enrollment, has been the recognized measure of the student body for 25 years or more. During the past year each of 36 large City Associations reported 1,000 or more of total enrollment in educational classes, subjects, courses or schools. Twenty-seven of these with a total enrollment of 66,543, reported 47,144 different students—that is, their average total enrollment was 41% greater than their number of different students. Nine other similarly large City Associations reported a total enrollment of 26,926, and also gave the same figures for their number of different students. In order to avoid duplication of different students, and assuming the same ratio of total enrollment to different students holds in both groups of Associations above, the 26,926 total enrollment of the nine City Y's above would represent only 19,092 different students, thus giving 7,834 duplicates. Subtracting this duplication from the total of 123,094 in City Y's, gives 115,260 as the more nearly accurate number of different students in City Y's, and 121,945 for all Y's.

†A part of this large record in Bible classes is due to the fact that this year for the first time, the 28,010 students in Life Problem and Discussion groups were included as Bible classes.

*Note: The State and Canadian Committees reported a total of 6,853 decisions for the Christian life—3,784 from state boys' conferences, 494 from state boys' camps, and 2,575 from Hi-Y groups. It is estimated that at least two-thirds of the attendance at such conferences and camps comes from cities with Associations. As each local Association reports the number of decisions through Association effort, and includes all those who may have made such decisions in the local Y., at conference or camp, two-thirds of the 6,853, or 4,568 will most likely have been counted twice in the final totals. Subtracting this estimated 4,568 duplication from the total of 40,254, we have 35,686 as the more nearly accurate number of decisions.

SUMMARY R—OVERSEAS (FOREIGN) ASSOCIATIONS

Some data from City and Student Associations in a few countries where the work is closely related to the International Committee.
 The local Associations in each of the principal nations as China, Japan, India, South America, are related directly to their own National Committees. See Tables XV and XVI.

THE POPULATION OF UNITED STATES

1920 Census

The 14th Census has given another decade mile-post of population data for the United States. We have not yet seen the new census data for Canada. To some Association leaders the relatively low figures in the United States are disappointing. While the gain in the decade ending 1910 was 21 per cent., the corresponding gain in the decade ending 1920 is only 14.9 per cent. The slower growth has been due to the war, the influenza, and the large shrinkage of immigration in 1916-1919. In this connection it will be of interest to note that the Young Men's Christian Association as measured by its fifteen leading items has grown about 48 per cent., or over three times faster than the population during the past ten years.

The trend of the population from rural to urban was large during the preceding decade, but more rapid still during the past decade, so that now much more than half the population live in cities. Of the 105,708,771 persons in continental United States in 1920, 51.9 per cent. are urban or live in cities of 2500 population and up, and 48.1 per cent. are in rural districts, and in the towns and villages below 2500. In 1910 the corresponding proportions for urban and rural were 46.3 per cent. and 53.7 per cent. respectively. To be more definite, the above 48.1 per cent. of the population which is called rural may be divided into two parts,—(a) the 9,864,196 living in incorporated places of less than 2500, and (b) the other 41,002,703 living in the purely country districts. Of these two parts, (a) has increased in the past decade 21.5 per cent., while (b) has met with a net loss of 227,355 or .6 of 1 per cent. of the total population.

In other words, the population of all incorporated places is (1920) 64,706,068 or 61.2 per cent. of the total, and in these places there has been a gain of from 21.5 per cent. to 36.5 per cent. of the population, depending upon their size, and a loss of nearly 1 per cent. in the population of the purely country districts. This helps one to appreciate something, not only of the problems of Association workers in small towns and country districts, but also to realize that from now on the city population will likely continue to become larger and the rural population to grow relatively less and less. One of the strongest reasons for this one-sided growth during recent years is the development of industry and manufacture which of necessity is confined to the city, either small or large. The strong and growing trend toward the city should be clearly understood by every Association leader, as such knowledge tends to modify Association policies, for the needs of a community rise or fall according to its population and to the consequent changes in its daily business. The growth of population has varied greatly in the different states. In three states—Vermont, Nevada, Mississippi—the population has decreased. The recognized leading industrial and manufacturing states and cities have largely increased. The newer states show relatively largest proportional increases, as Arizona 63 per cent., Montana 46 per cent., California 44 per cent., and so on. The relative rank in population of various states has materially changed. California has increased from 12th in 1910, to 8th in 1920. New Jersey has increased from 11th to 10th. Oklahoma from 23rd to 21st. Washington from 30th to 29th, and so on. Association work in these states has also grown relatively much faster than the population. In some states there is a relative decrease in population rank. Missouri has decreased from 7th to 9th. Iowa decreased from 15th to 16th. Indiana from 9th to 11th, and so on.

The geographic center of the United States is in the northern part of Kansas. The center of population, for the Census of 1920, is at Whitehall, Indiana, where the parallel of latitude of 39 degrees, 10 minutes and 21 seconds north, crosses the meridian of longitude of 86 degrees, 43 minutes and 15 seconds west. The corresponding center of the Young Men's Christian Association population of United States—the population living in cities or towns having one or more Associations—is estimated to be in Eastern Ohio.

CITIES AND THEIR PROBLEMS

We have not yet seen the new census data for Canada. The 1920 Census of the United States gives 290 cities of 25,000 and over with a total population of 37,833,601, and 2,537 cities from 2,500 to 25,000 with 17,002,905 persons, making a total city population of 54,836,506 persons, or 51.0 per cent of the total population. These 2,827 communities possess every kind of advantage and disadvantage of climate, industry and varied citizenship involving all races and shades of moral and religious life. "They represent in endless series the social, political, industrial, and religious conditions of American life, with every combination of good and evil, and every contrast of luxury and poverty." Working among this seething mass of restless humanity is the Church, the Young Men's Christian Association, and kindred up-lifting, character-building organizations, servants of the Master, striving for the development of Christian manhood and womanhood.

The age of modern cities began in earnest about 1850. The oldest large cities in the United States and Canada are only about one-eighth as old as London or Paris, and only one-twentieth as old as Jerusalem or Damascus. In 1800 the six largest cities in the United States—Philadelphia, New York and Brooklyn, Baltimore, Boston, Charleston, and Salem—had a combined population of 210,873, or about one-half as many people as now visit Coney Island on a summer holiday. In the decade 1900-1910 nearly as many new cities were added as in the first eighty years of our national life put together. In 1920, after 120 years, 2,821 cities over 2,500 each have been added with a city population of 54,606,000, or eleven times as many city people added as were found in the whole of the United States in 1800.

It is significant that the rate of growth of cities as shown on adjacent pages has recently so rapidly and greatly exceeded that of the total population of the purely country sections. The peculiar conditions which make the problems of the Association difficult in cities are not so marked as a rule in cities under 25,000, but they become increasingly acute for both the Association and the Church in cities where the population increases by 50,000 to 100,000 each year. Bishop F. D. Leete of the Methodist Church, formerly a secretary of the Association, recently well said, "The modern city is redeemable. Its conquest for health, purity, intelligence, and obedience to human and divine law, is the chief Christian business."

The growth of cities seems impossible of control by man. Attempts to check such growth have not succeeded. Aristotle, Cicero, and many other noted authorities in various lands and covering hundreds of years, have tried in various legal ways to limit the size of cities, to turn people back to the country, but without success. In America efforts have been made to stimulate the growth of cities by chambers of commerce, boards of trade, and promoters generally who have made all kinds of inducements to secure new industries for the city.

Within a ten-mile radius of the centers of twenty-five largest city communities, each with 250,000 and over, the Federal Census states that there are over one-fourth of the entire population of the United States. In this same group of twenty-five metropolitan centers is found more than sixty per cent of the Association population—people living in communities having a Young Men's Christian Association—about thirty per cent of the Association members, and an Association work costing about fifty per cent of the total for the Movement in the United States.

The city is composed of three general classes,—(1) those that have moved into the city from the country, (2) aliens from foreign lands through immigration, (3) and those that are born in the city. The task of the City Association in dealing with these different groups is not so much social, economic, moral or even a spiritual problem as it is a psychological. The thing which causes these three groups to differ is the fact that in childhood they grew up and received their training in entirely different environments. They were trained to think and speak in essentially different terms, and their natural but differing reactions towards situations, conditions and facts are but the natural result of their training and their traditional viewpoints.

As a rule, the city Association appeals more successfully and efficiently to those that are either born in the city or have come to it from the country rather than to those from foreign lands.

The Association atmosphere, policy and service is largely in the thought language and from the viewpoint of the rural emigrant because the majority of leaders of the city Association work are from those who were born and brought up in the country. Hence the best of effort is often ineffective to either the alien or to the indigenous city folk. Here then is seen one reason for the large and vexing problem of the city Association. During the next fifty years this rural leadership will unfortunately relatively decrease as the trend of the population from the country to the city increases.

Of all the baby boys born in America in recent years, over two-thirds of them have been born in cities and incorporated places, and their parents in about seventy per cent of the cases are foreign born. Who can measure the increased responsibility of the Association, the Church and the State for the development of Christian citizenship under such conditions?

RELIGIOUS BODIES IN THE UNITED STATES

U. S. Census

Some data concerning religious bodies in the United States as of 1916, secured by the United States Census during fifteen months up to March, 1918, and published in Bulletin 142 of the Bureau of Census in 1920.

1. The number of local religious organizations of various kinds in the United States is 227,487,—or about one hundred times the number of different local Young Men's Christian Associations.

2. The total membership of religious bodies reported is 41,926,854,—or 58 church members to each Y. M. C. A. member the same year. Of the total church members, 15,653,958 are males, or 18 male church members to each Association member. Of these male members there are 13,393,101 over thirteen years of age, or 15 male church members to every Association member of corresponding age.

3. The value of church properties reported is $1,895,496,678,—or $19 of church property for each $1 of Association property of the same year (1916).

4. The debt on church properties reported is $164,864,899,—or twelve times the amount of the Association property debt.

5. The operating expenditures of religious bodies reported is $328,809,999,—or $13 of church expense to each $1 similarly expended for the Young Men's Christian Association at the same date. This expense is equivalent to $7.85 for each church member. The corresponding Association expense per Association member of the same date is $19.55.

The number of Sunday Schools in the eastern, northern, and central states has decreased in the preceding decade from 51.4 per cent of the whole to 46.9 per cent of the whole; while the number of such schools in the southern, gulf, western, and Pacific states has increased from 48.6 per cent to 53.1 per cent of the whole.

WORKINGMEN IN THE CHURCH

We are told that as a rule men are not found in the church to any great extent, that workingmen especially do not frequent the church, and that as a class they are not found on the managing boards of the churches. Mr. C. R. Zahniser in The Continent, February 3, 1921, gives some data which will be found encouraging to all Association leaders. In an Eastern cosmopolitan community thirty-eight churches in ten denominations were carefully selected, including several churches in sections where the population was almost wholly foreign, other churches in sections where the population was specially industrial, others in sections of the middle class residential, and others in sections occupied by the more wealthy people of the community. These thirty-eight churches were so representative that the facts secured can well be taken as fairly indicative of all the churches of the average large cosmopolitan community. They furnish the following facts:—

Number churches studied . . . . .	38
Total members of these churches . . . . .	21,915
Average members per church . . . . .	576
Total number adult males in 38 churches . . . . .	8,766, or 40% of total membership. That is, the proportion of adult men to women in the membership is about 4 to 6. Of these males 77 per cent are wage earners of various classes as shown in the chart herewith, and 23 per cent are employers, business and professional men. Of the personnel of the managing boards of the churches, the wage earners comprised 53.3 per cent, while the employers, business and professional men included 46.7 per cent.

ASSOCIATION PHYSICAL WORK

(Year Book 1920)

Of the 765 different City Associations and branches, 20 report a total of 50,294 different men and boys registered in regular gymnasium classes, ranging in numbers from 1800 and upward in each Association; 157 others report a total of 133,116 men and boys in such classes, ranging in numbers from 500 to 1,800 different persons in each Association; 338 other Associations report a total of 101,066 in such classes, ranging in numbers from 5 up to 499 persons in each place, and the remaining 250 unfortunately make no report of any such work.

Thirty-three Railroad Associations report a total of 6,354 different persons in regular gymnasium classes, of which eight Associations each report more than 250 men in such classes.

The following table shows the rank of the 20 City Associations each reporting 1,800 or more different men and boys in regular gymnasium class work. It will be studied with interest by each general secretary and physical director. While Toronto Central leads in the largest number of such persons, yet Chicago (Sears-Roebuck department) leads in the rank of physical work per hundred Association members; and Allentown, Pa., leads in the rank per ten-thousand population.

BIBLE STUDY—(Year Book 1920)

Thirteen different City Associations report a total of 18,226 different men and boys as students, ranging in numbers from 1,000 and upward in each place; 71 other Associations report a total of 34,402 different students, ranging in numbers from 300 to 1,000 students each; 418 others report a total of 42,349 different students, ranging in numbers from 5 up to 299 students each. The remaining 263 City Associations unfortunately report no students in Bible Study whatever.

One hundred and thirty-one different Railroad Associations report a total of 7,016 different students in Bible study. Eighteen of these Associations report numbers of students ranging from 100 to 650 each. Unfortunately, however, 113 Associations, or nearly half of such organizations, reported no Bible study whatever.

The following table shows the rank of the thirteen City Associations each reporting 1,000 or more different students in Bible study. This will be studied with interest by each general secretary and religious work director. In this table Seattle leads in the number of different students and in the rank of students for each 10,000 of the population. Chicago (Sears-Roebuck department) leads in the rank of students for each 100 of the Association membership.

PAN-ASSOCIATION DATA vs CITY ASSOCIATION DATA

In Four Divisions of Cities—1920 Year Book

The comparison of the data for a few leading items from ALL Associations—City, Railroad, Student, Colored, Army and Navy, in 832 cities—with the similar data from the CITY Associations only. The Pan data is in heavy type, and the City data is in light type. The difference between the two figures for any item in any Division, shows the data for all Associations other than the City Associations in that Division.

Cost of Living, Wholesale Commodity Prices (U. S. Dept. of Labor), and Total Operating Expenditures of the Young Men's Christian Associations

Luxuries

According to Government returns for 1920 reported by United States Commissioner of Education, P. P. Claxton, April 1921, the people of the United States in that one year spent $22,700,000,000 for luxuries most of which were unnecessary and some positively harmful to the best interests of the nation. Of the above amount in one year, 5 billions was spent for food luxuries while millions of people are starving; 3 billions more was spent for joy riding, races and pleasure resorts; 3 billions additional was spent for luxurious service including tips; 2½ billions more for tobacco in all its various forms—about double the amount thus spent in the year before the War; 2 billions more was spent for jewelry, diamonds, perfume, cosmetics, and so on.

The cost of these luxuries in one year is 30 per cent more than the total cost of all public education in the United States for the past 275 years taken together. We think of the $165,000,000 spent by the Young Men's Christian Association in the great War (1914-1919) as a vast amount, and it was vast, yet the money paid for these luxuries in 1920 in the United States alone would have provided for more than the same Y. M. C. A. war service in 138 such great wars!

The $2,200,000,000 expended for tobacco in its various forms in 1920 in the United States, would pay the present very large operating expenditures of the entire Association Movement in the world as a whole as at present for nearly 50 years.

The $5,000,000,000 spent for food luxuries alone in 1920 in the United States, would provide Young Men's Christian Association plants, equipment and endowments complete like the present reported amount for Canada and the United States as a whole ($142,000,000) for 357 other continents like North America.

The cigarette bill in the United States alone for 1920 ($510,000,000) or nearly three times the amount spent for cigarettes in the year before the War, would provide the following generous items for each one of the 5,200 employed officers of the Young Men's Christian Associations in the United States and Canada, or for an equal number of ministers, or teachers, or any other group of leaders:

ASSOCIATION DATA

1. A $15,000 home free from debt.
2. A $10,000 investment in first class bonds drawing five per cent.
3. A $4,000 salary for each of ten years or a total of $40,000 employed officer.
4. A $5,000 fund for the higher education and professional training of the children in the family of each employed officer—a total of $10,000.
5. A $1,000 for benevolence, tithing, charity, welfare work, etc.—a total of $10,000.
6. A $15,000 fund, the five per cent. income of which he may use for the Association, but which at his death would automatically revert to the local Association, the state, or other Association agency he served.

Perfumes, Jewelry and Cosmetic

In 1920, the people of the United States spent $1,250,000,000 for perfume, powder, cosmetics, and jewelry. Such an amount would have built 1200 Young Men's Christian Association equipment for cities that already have Associations; $150,000 for each of the 1200 societies that yet do not have Associations; $100,000 per year for 10 years for the maintenance of the work in foreign lands; (4) endowment of the rate of expenditure to the general agencies—International Home Work, State Work, Association Work, Training Agencies—for the to allocate the above amounts to an equal number of cities for the Young Men's Christian Associations and for the endowment of their general agencies; (5) $100,000 for the Retirement Fund; (7) and still have enough left ($170,000,000) to pay the entire Church debt of all religious bodies in the United States—Protestant, Catholic, as reported in the last Religious Census; and (8) furnish each of the 100,000 churches $2,000 for expanding religious education.

Diamonds

In one year—1920—$72,000,000 was spent for diamonds and jewelry in the United States. Such an amount would have built and operated

100,000

Young Men's Christian Associations and 200 Young Women's Christian Associations each at a cost of $100,000; and with an extra annual $8000 for each to cover any deficit.

Candy

In 1920, the people of United States paid over $462,000,000 for candy. Such an amount would (1) provide the present budget of the Foreign Department of the International Committee for ten years; (2) quadruple the present number of Association buildings and their maintenance on the foreign field; (3) provide all that has been asked through various Commissions for the starving children of Asia and Europe in 1920; (4) provide an extra $10,000 annually for ten years for each Young Men's Christian Association in North America to put into its special religious co-operative effort with the Churches; (5) and still provide a pound box of best chocolates for each man, woman and child in the United States.

ANNUAL STATISTICAL REVIEW

Another Record Year

Four-year period. Study the following brief table carefully. The Year Book for 1917 gives facts for the last complete Association year before America entered the world war. The present Year Book, 1921, gives the similar data for the first complete Association year after the war. Note the large increase in the property, contributions and expenditures from 1917 to 1921. While the number of employed officers remains about the same and the membership has increased 30 per cent, the net property has increased 45 per cent, the operating expenditures 126 per cent, and the contributions toward expenses, 156 per cent. This four-year period also shows substantial but much smaller increases in activities. In physical work shown by different registrations in the gymnasium classes there has been an increase of 36 per cent; in the number of different educational students, 56 per cent; in the number of different men and boys in Bible classes, 20 per cent; in decisions for the Christian life, 16 per cent; and in uniting with the Church, 17 per cent.

In addition to this data for the regular Home Work of the last four years in Canada and the United States, the Associations of these countries did their part valiantly to help win the World War. In this Association War Work friends in the United States provided $165,000,000, and sent over 28,000 Association war workers into the field at home and abroad. In proportion to its population Canada furnished much larger funds and more workers. General Pershing said, "The Y. M. C. A. furnished nine-tenths of the total welfare work in the American Army during the war." In view of these facts it would appear that the unfair criticism of the Association War Work had failed in its purpose.

I. Organization

The past year shows a much larger increase over the facts for 1920, than was anticipated notwithstanding the financial and business depression. During the past year through the cooperation of the regional, state and local secretaries, 51 new Associations were added and 105 dead or inactive Associations were dropped from the lists. Reports have been received from 1,766 organizations or 160 more than a year ago. This partially accounts for some of the large increases.

The number of volunteer laymen on boards of directors and committees has steadily increased to 97,611—14 per cent over one year ago. The number of employed officers is 3 per cent greater than last year and is only a little greater than was reported in 1917, when the total work then done was only about 60 per cent as large as at present. This seems to indicate increased efficiency of the employed officers.

The total membership is now 935,581—8 per cent increase over last year. If the present rate of growth continues another year it will reach the million mark. Of this total number the boy members comprise 219,376, an increase of 10 per cent during the year. They now have 23.4 per cent of the total membership.

II. Property and Finance

As some of the property values reported a year ago seemed to be inflated, it is of interest to note that the $140,821,300 of net property and funds reported this year is an increase of 10 per cent over those of a year ago. Of this total amount, $12,400,800 is endowment funds which are three per cent ahead of last year. The property debt of $14,666,100 is an increase of much less than one per cent in a year, and is only 9.4 per cent of the total Association property reported. It is encouraging to note that this is the lowest percentage of debt to total property yet reported by the Movement.

Income. The continued and even increased costs of labor and material during the past year naturally result in larger figures for the conduct of the work, both in income and expenditures. The income from members' dues has increased 13 per cent over the previous year to $4,432,200. Of this amount the boy members have paid $692,300. The income from tuition fees in the various activities—social, physical, educational, etc., is $6,293,200, an increase of 32 per cent. This is the largest annual increase per cent of receipts from activity features in the history of the Movement. Of this activity income, the boy members furnished $466,800, or 7.4 per cent. The income reported from the business and club features including restaurants, dormitories, camps, baths, and nominal club activities is $21,875,300, an increase of 32 per cent over the previous year and much more than twice the similar amount four years ago. Indeed, this income from business features alone for the past year is as large as the total amount of Association property in the Movement as a whole—buildings, sites, endowment—thirty years ago. The income from contributions of friends, 97 per cent of which is toward the support of the work in Canada and United States, is $10,364,600, an increase of 24 per cent in one year. The total income is thus $47,259,700, or over $10,000,000 greater than a year ago, and ten times the amount similarly received for the work in North America only twelve years ago. The total gifts of members and North American friends of the Association work in Canada and United States during the past year alone, for added Association property and for the conduct of the work in North America, have been $60,062,000. To this amount should be added $1,419,660 for the normal foreign work, and $7,219,250 for the Y war work overseas, making a total of $68,700,910.

Expenditures. In spite of the business and financial depression of the past year there has been a much larger increase in expenditures than the leaders have anticipated. A large part of this increase is due to the much higher cost of labor, service, materials and living, than a year ago. Government reports show that the peak of high cost of living was reached in July, 1920, and that peak was 35 per cent higher than the corresponding date a year previous. General administration of Association work—local, county, state, regional, national—has cost $11,179,600, an increase of 22 per cent over a year ago, and $1,751,600 of this amount is for work among boys. The conduct of the activities—social, physical, educational, religious—has cost $10,165,400, 29 per cent more than a year ago, and nearly $1,000,000 of this amount has been spent for work among boys. The business and club features have cost $15,993,100, 27 per cent more than a year ago. The total operating expenditures, including many items not here mentioned, are $47,814,400—24 per cent more than a year ago, and considerably more than double the similar amount four years ago.

An Explanation. Leaders of many years experience are surprised at the rapidly increasing totals of operating expenditures during the last five years. There are two reasons—first, it has cost twice as much to live and serve during the past year or two as it did five years ago. Second, and more important for this statement, is the fact that in former years the annual report blanks called for "current expenses," meaning practically only the net cost of operating the Association building and of conducting the normal activities—social, employment, physical, educational, religious—but not including any business, nominal, or club features. These “current expenses” were recorded as such in the Year Books annually up to and including 1916 when the total net expenses for local, county, state and International Home Work were $14,486,758. If that same basis had been continued to the present time the corresponding “current or net expenses” in the Year Book 1920 would be $25,838,016, and in the 1921 Year Book would be $31,821,000, because of the rapid growth of the Movement combined with the increasing high cost of labor and service.

With the rapid expansion of large Association plants in the past decade providing large dormitories, restaurants, baths, clubs and many other business and economic features in addition to their regular activities, the majority of leaders of the growing work have felt it both desirable and necessary to report the finances of these business and club features as well as of the regular Association activities, in order to more justly show the true volume or financial scope of Association effort. The annual report schedules, therefore, for the past five years have provided for each Association and State Committee to report the financial extent of the varied business features as well as of their regular activities. Experience indicates that such operating expenditures including the total cost of operating the entire Association plant with all of its forms of effort, rather than merely the net current expenses of the activities as formerly, is much favored by the community. It facilitates the financial interest and cooperation of friends. People more willingly contribute a 10 per cent share in a $200,000 annual Association proposition than they do in raising a $20,000 deficit.

The total “operating expenditures” omitting the Foreign Work, Association Men and Association Press, have thus been as reported in the Year Book 1917, $21,105,046; 1918, $24,777,841; 1919, $29,537,194; 1920, $38,484,800; and 1921, $47,814,400. Of the total amounts above, the expenditures for business and club features reported have been—1917, $3,165,000; 1918, $5,760,000; 1919, $9,291,279; 1920, $12,646,900; 1921, $15,993,100. As the expenditures for these business, club and camp features are brought together in a single column each year in the State, City, Railroad, Colored and General Summary Tables, it is very easy for anyone desiring to know the relative net expenditures on the basis of five and ten years ago, to subtract the business expenditures from the total expenditures. The following table of these net expenditures will be of considerable interest.

CLASSIFICATION OF ASSOCIATION NET EXPENDITURES, 1917-1921 FROM ASSOCIATION YEAR BOOKS

These net expenditures are the total operating expenditures reported, less the several amounts expended for the business and club features conducted by the Association—restaurant, dormitory, camp, baths, laundry and so on.

Year Book	Local Associations	State Committees	International Committee	Total Net Expenditures
1917	$17,043,903	$ 507,209	$388,934	$17,940,046
1918	17,997,341	587,700	432,800	19,017,841
1919	18,993,315	743,200	509,400	20,245,915
1920	23,666,000	1,447,100	724,800	25,837,900
1921	29,552,384	1,370,800	898,116	31,821,300

III. Activities

Social and Economic. While there has been 25 per cent increase in socials, receptions and entertainments, the employment, sleeping and eating features show a decided decrease owing to the fact that in the reconstruction period a year ago when the ex-service men were getting back home and readjusted, these economic and service features were very much overtaxed. The camp has passed out of the experimental stage and become one of the most vital and important features of Association effort. The results in recent years indicate that for each $100 of investment in camping operation under normal auspices, more than twice as many decisions for the Christian life and a far greater uplifting Christian influence are seen than in any other feature of Association service with similar investment.

Physical. The number of different registrations in gymnasium classes is 341,852, an increase of 10 per cent over a year ago. Similar growth is seen in many of the other leading physical work features as leaders' clubs, physical examinations, intramural games and athletics. The 86,426 taught swimming and life saving is 21 per cent ahead of a year ago. See Summary O.

Educational. While there has been a loss of four per cent in the popular and widely used lectures and talks, yet there has been a very large increase in the number of different students, and also in the increased efficiency of service rendered. The number of different students (counting no person twice in the same year), rather than the total enrollment has been the recognized measure of the size of the student body for 28 years. In large city Associations with from 30 to 100 courses, schools, classes or subjects, the total enrollment is from 20 per cent to 60 per cent greater than the number of different students. During the past year there have been 36 large city Associations that reported 1,000 or more of total enrollment in educational work. Twenty-seven of these 36, with a total enrollment of 66,543, reported 47,144 different students—that is, their average total enrollment was 41 per cent greater than their number of different students. Nine other similarly large city Associations reported a total enrollment of 26,926 and also gave the same figures for their number of different students.

In order to avoid duplication of different students and assuming the same ratio of total enrollment to different students holds in both these groups of Associations, the 26,926 of total enrollment in the nine city Y's would represent only 19,092 different students, thus giving 7,834 duplicates. Subtracting this duplication from the total of 123,094 in the city Associations, gives 115,260 as the more nearly correct number of different students in city Associations, and correspondingly 121,945 for all Associations. See Summary P.

Special Religious. The number of different men and boys in Bible classes is 180,808—33 per cent increase over a year ago. Thus Bible study after the war, reports to and passes its highest record of pre-war years. A part of the increase of this year is due to the 28,010 students in life problem courses and discussion groups being added this year for the first time to the list of Bible classes considered. The attendance at religious meetings in the building, shop, theatre and outside is 6,374,000, an increase of six per cent; and the total attendance at all Bible classes and religious meetings is 8,880,800, an increase of nine per cent over a year ago and ahead of pre-war days. Decisions for the Christian life, less the estimated duplicates, are 35,686 or 32 per cent increase. The 10,909 reported united with the Church is 24 per cent more than a year ago. These large increases in the distinctive character of Association work will bring encouragement to all. See Summary Q.

IV. The Boys

The boys now constitute 23.4 per cent of the Association membership, pay 15 per cent of the total membership fees received locally and pay seven per cent of the tuition fees for the various activities. For the operation of work among boys the administration expense is 15 per cent, the corresponding expense for activities among boys—social, physical, educational, religious—is 10 per cent of the total for both men and boys. In the activities themselves, the boys have 43 per cent of the number of socials and entertainments reported, 46 per cent of the different registrations in gymnasium classes, 10 per cent of the number of different students in educational work, and 52 per cent of the number reported in Bible study.

V. By Groups of Associations

To aid leaders in obtaining another interpretation of some of the totals for the past year, the following will be found helpful. Carefully study the Summaries A to S for the various departments found in Section Three earlier in the book.

City. The City Associations this year report 74.1 per cent of the total membership, 83.5 per cent of the net Association property and 73.9 per cent of the total operating expenses of the Movement. During the past year they have gained 11 per cent in their committee forces, 7 per cent in their membership, 10 per cent in their net property and funds, 36 per cent in their contributions toward operating expenses, 8 per cent in their activities, 50 per cent in their decisions for Christian life, 44 per cent in uniting with Church, but have decreased 28 per cent in their employment service. The Industrial and the Community work are both included in the City Table as last year. See Summary G.

Railroad. The Railroad Associations report 11.8 per cent of the total members, 5.9 per cent of the net Association property, and 13.7 per cent of the total operating expenses of the Movement. During the past year they report 1 per cent less of members than a year ago, 6 per cent increase in net property, 17 per cent more of contributions, 22 per cent increase in total operating expenditures, 12 per cent increase in activities, 4 per cent increase in decisions for the Christian life, and 40 per cent increase in uniting with the Church. See Summary H.

Student. The Student Associations have 9 per cent of the total membership, 2 per cent of the net property and 1.2 per cent of the total operating expenses of the Movement. During the past year their committee forces have increased 27 per cent; their property 2 per cent; their contributions 29 per cent; their operating expenditures 44 per cent; men in Bible classes 40 per cent; decisions for the Christian life 11.3 per cent, but show a loss of 8 per cent in uniting with the Church. See Summary I.

County Work. The County work represents 1 per cent of the membership and 1 per cent of the total operating expenditures of the Movement. During the past year in 136 counties reporting there is an increase of 20 per cent in their property, 11 per cent in their contributions, 9 per cent in their expenditures, 63 per cent in decisions for the Christian life, and 29 per cent in uniting with the Church. See Summary F.

Colored Men. The Colored Associations have 3.5 per cent of the total membership, 2.1 per cent of the total net property and 1.4 per cent of the total operating expenditures of the Movement. During the past year their work has grown rapidly. They show an increase of 50 per cent in their committee forces, 20 per cent in their total membership, 27 per cent in their net property and funds, 78 per cent in their contributions, 63 per cent in their expenditures, 49 per cent in their activities; but unfortunately show a decrease of 14 per cent in decisions for the Christian life and a decrease of 19 per cent in the number uniting with the Church. See Summary J.

Army and Navy. The Army and Navy Associations have 2.3 per cent of the total Association property, and 2.9 per cent of the total operating expenditures of the Movement. During the past year their committee forces have increased 68 per cent, their net property 44 per cent, their operating expenditures 13 per cent, their activities 47 per cent; but they report a decrease of 10 per cent in decisions for the Christian life and a similar decrease of 10 per cent in uniting with the Church. See Summary K.

VI. General Agencies

These include the State Committees and National Council of Canada, the three Association Colleges, nine Summer Schools, and the International Committee. These agencies combined report 4.1 per cent of the total Association property, and 5.7 per cent of the total operating expenditures of the Movement. Altogether they have 1,601 men on their committee forces, report a net property of $5,837,300, contributions received of $1,866,000, and operating expenditures of $2,740,600. These expenditures are 5.6 per cent greater than a year ago. Of such expenditures, $1,555,200 is reported by the State and Canadian Committees, $244,600 by the three Association Colleges, $42,700 by the nine Summer Schools, and the balance of $898,100 by the International Committee. The above data does not include the Overseas (Foreign) Division, which has many hundred men on local committees, and received $1,419,660 in contributions. See Summary R., also Table XV. and XVI. For final totals of State Committees see Table III and Summary E.

CONTRIBUTIONS—Explanation and Analysis:

The total contributions, $10,364,600 reported the past year (May 1, 1920 to April 30, 1921) for the work in Canada and the United States, come from 1,165 local Associations of various kinds, 125 County organizations, 41 State Committees, the National Council of Canada and its four divisions, the three Association Colleges, nine Summer Schools, and the International Committee in its Home Work. To this amount should be added $1,419,660 for the International Overseas (Foreign) Division, making a total of $11,785, 955 contributions.

As a part of the contributions reported by local Associations have been appropriated through their treasuries to the general agencies and properly reported as contributions received by the general agencies, there is thus a slight duplication of amounts shown as follows:

Contributions to International Overseas (Foreign) Division, also reported by local Y's.....	$355,151
Contributions to International Home Work, also reported by local Y's.....	108,568
Contributions to State and Canadian Committees, also reported by local Y's	277,061
Contributions to Association Colleges and Schools, also reported by local Y's	29,797
<hr/>
Total contributions thus reported twice.....	$770,577

Subtracting this duplication from the total of $11,785,955 we have $11,015,378 of net contributions covering all agencies. Of this net total, the following amounts are the corrected contributions to each of the Association agencies mentioned, together with the per cent of such contribution to the total amount of net contributions.

	Contribu- tions	Per Cent of Total
Local Associations.....	$7,727,943	70.2
State Committees.....	976,700	8.9
National Council of Canada.....	145,700	1.3
Training Agencies.....	109,451	1.0
International Overseas (Foreign) Division.....	1,421,355	12.9

AGENCIES FOR TRAINING AND CONFERENCE ASSOCIATION COLLEGES

In the general course Dr. W. G. Ballantine, upon his retirement, has been appointed emeritus professor in the Bible. His successor is Prof. C. A. Hawley, who is a graduate of Hamilton College and of Union Theological Seminary, and has taken courses at Columbia University, New York, and the present year at Basle, Switzerland. In biology, Dr. S. C. Ball has been succeeded by Dr. W. B. Kirkham, formerly assistant professor of biology in the Sheffield Scientific School at Yale.

The most significant advance in the physical education course is the securing of funds for the erection of a building for medical gymnastics, and for the re-surfacing of the athletic fields. The secretarial course has been strengthened by the addition of a course in anthropology and the extending of the course in business administration which will be in charge of Prof. L. I. Houghton, of the School of Business Administration at Columbia University. The course for industrial secretaries has been placed in charge of Prof. G. T. Schwenning, who the past year has been doing graduate work in economics at Clark University. Arrangements have been made with the International Committee to furnish a resident professor for one term in the principles of Association Foreign Work.

The Summer School, organized in 1919, has been thoroughly established on the credit basis and in charge of Prof. Elmer Berry as director. It is held during the month of July. This school offers credit courses toward the degrees granted by the College. Two hours daily are given in a subject, making sixty hours for five weeks. In 1919 there were 49 students, and in 1920, 86 students. In the summer of 1921 courses will be offered in physical education, coaching school for major sports, biology, medical gymnastics, nervous and mental diagnosis, and in the psychology of physical education. The total amount secured the two million dollar expansion fund of the Association College is $317,265. The college year opens Tuesday, September 13.

Nashville, Tenn. W. D. WEATHERFORD, President.

The purpose of the Southern Association College is to train secretaries for service in the Young Men's Christian Association. The courses are planned to give broad general culture as well as technical skill in the various departments of Association work. Emphasis will be placed on sound constructive scholarship in the Bible, in fundamentals of christian faith, history of christian organization, and history of the christian church at work in the world today. Technical courses will be given in secretarial administration, physical education, county, boys', industrial, student, railroad, religious and educational work.

The Southern College is a professional school of graduate grade and therefore bids for men who are already college graduates. Students who are not college graduates will be urged to take additional work in one of the academic institutions of the city in order to bring up full requirements for college standing. Those who have not met the full entrance requirements for college, may pursue the courses in the college, but will not be eligible for a degree. Certificates will be given for all work done. In case students complete the full requirements later, the proper degree will be conferred.

Students will be eligible for the B. A. degree who have had at least two years of college work in an accredited college and who satisfactorily complete eight full quarters of eleven weeks each in the work in Southern College. Students will be eligible to the M. A. degree who have a B. A. degree from any recognized college and who complete the eight terms of work required at Southern College. Students are eligible for the degree of D. P. E. who have done the required pre medical work, equivalent to sophomore work in college, and who finish satisfactorily the eleven quarters of work at the college.

Chicago, Ill. DR. F. H. BURT, President.

The work of the College may be classified as follows: •

1. From the standpoint of vocational specialization.—There are offered courses in general administration, boys' work, county work, community work, industrial work, transportation work and physical education. These courses lead to the degree of bachelor of association science for the secretarial courses and bachelor of physical education or physical directorship.

2. From the standpoint of educational preparation.—There is offered the college division of four years for students who have completed a standard high school course; a graduate division of two years for secretarial men and three years for men in physical education, to students holding a bachelors degree from a standard college or university; and co-ordinated university and professional courses which by exchange of credit look toward the bachelor and professional degrees for men in the college division and the master and professional degrees for men in the graduate division.

3. From the standpoint of departments of instruction.—The courses of study are grouped under the following departments of instruction:

I. Association Science

General administration
Boys' work
County work
Community work
Industrial work
Transportation work
English

II. Religion and Ethics

The Bible
The Christian Church
Religious education

III. Social Science

Psychology
Sociology
Economics

IV. Physical Science

Physical education
Biology (zoology, anatomy, physiology, hygiene)
Physical activities.

An enlarged faculty for the year includes new men in boys' work and county work.

ASSOCIATION SUMMER SCHOOLS

Canadian School;—LAKE COUCHICHING, ONT.

General Office, 120 Bay St., Toronto, Ont.

This is a school for employed officers of the Young Men's Christian Association throughout Canada. It also includes among its students, committee men and Association members. Its property comprises 76 acres, with a mile of shore line on one of the most beautiful lakes of Canada or of the world. Its equipment includes a large dining hall, a gymnasium, several rooming houses, and 27 cottages. The sewage and water systems are of high standard, and the grounds and buildings are lighted by electricity from the town of Orillia, several miles away. The facilities for bathing and swimming in Lake Couchiching are difficult to surpass. Boating and canoe trips, athletic field, tennis courts, etc., give great opportunity for recreation.

Henry Yeigh, Secretary and Business Manager, Toronto; C. W. Bishop, Chairman of Deans, Toronto; Secretarial Department, Henry Ballantine, Toronto; Physical Department, Fred. J. Smith, Toronto; Boys' Department, W. H. Cole, Toronto; Railroad Department, J. M. Dudley, Montreal.

Lake Geneva;—COLLEGE CAMP (WILLIAMS BAY), WIS.

General Office, 5315 Drexel Ave., Chicago, Ill.

In 1884, on the shores of Lake Geneva, the work of Association College was originally established, under the name of the Western Secretarial Institute. In location and equipment this camp is recognized as most admirably fitted for its purpose. The plant includes 75 acres of land with living accommodations for 700 people, an auditorium seating 900, five instruction buildings, a well equipped gymnasium, athletic field of 9 acres, tennis courts, golf course, fleet of row boats, etc.

The summer sessions are held during July, and the enrollment for 1920 was 796. Schools are conducted for Association administration, boys' work, county work, educational work, industrial service, physical education, railroad work and student work. Three-day conferences are held on building maintenance, finance, membership, personnel, boys' work, etc.

The officers of the school are Dr. F. H. Burt, President; J. Q. Ames, Principal. The deans for 1921 are as follows: Administration, E. F. Denison; Boys' Work, L. Paulson; County, C. L. Rowe; Educational, A. H. Speer; Industrial, N. C. Schlichter; Physical, M. I. Foss; Railroad, C. R. Bearmore; Student, F. M. Hansen.

Eastern School;—SILVER BAY ON LAKE GEORGE, N. Y.

General Office, 347 Madison Ave., New York.

The season of 1920 was marked by progress in educational methods, with a total enrollment of 715 students, representing nearly every state and nearly 22 countries outside of North America. There were 80 instructors. The expenses for the year were $16,337, of which $7,800 came from registration and tuition fees. The School was incorporated in 1914.

Fred S. Goodman, President; William D. Murray, Vice-President; E. M. McBrier, Treasurer; G. T. Coxhead, Secretary. The deans of departments for 1921 are as follows:—Religious Education, Fred S. Goodman; Army and Navy, F. A. McCarl; Boys' Work, H. T. Baker, Associate, W. H. Burger; County, D. C. Drew; Educational, E. L. Wertheim, Associate, F. P. Lamphear; General Secretaries, A. G. Bookwalter, Associate, G. C. Hubert; Industrial, C. R. Towson, Associate, E. Galloway; Personnel, R. P. Kaighn; Physical, John Brown, Jr., M. D., Associate, W. H. Ball; Religious Leadership, A. D. Nicholls; Transportation, C. R. Parsons, Associate, R. B. Smith; World Relations, J. E. Manley, Associate, Galen M. Fisher.

Estes Park Summer Schools;—ESTES PARK, COLORADO.

General Office, Y. M. C. A., Denver, Col.

The Estes Park Summer Schools are conducted on the property owned and administered by the Estes Park Conference of Young Men's Christian Associations. This property, which consists of more than five hundred acres, is in the very heart of the most scenic part of the Rocky Mountain National Park. The buildings and equipment are adequate and serve the purposes of the Summer Schools in a most admirable manner. The Estes Park Schools serve in an intensive way the Associations in the states comprising the Western Region but an increasing number of students are received each year from the states west of the Mississippi who are attracted by a desire to take their Summer School work in a place of such surpassing natural beauty. In more recent years the School has had students from the most distant parts of the United States, from Canada and from foreign countries.

During 1920 a fund of $100,000 was subscribed from the proceeds of which electric lights have been installed in the main buildings, dormitories for employees erected, a modern installation of sanitary sewage disposal put in, a refrigerating plant and a complete electrically and steam operated kitchen equipment installed. The buildings have been put in a high state of repair, the grounds beautified and the inter-conference roads put in splendid condition. About three-fifths of the fund has been paid in and when fully paid, all indebtedness on the plant and operating expenses will have been paid off. In addition to the Summer Schools of the Y. M. C. A. this equipment is used by the Y. W. C. A. and various churches bodies for schools and conferences for the purpose of training Christian leadership. There are accommodations for more than five hundred guests and for the past two seasons they have been occupied almost to capacity.

Southern School;—BLUE RIDGE, N. C.

General Office, 1728 Candler Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

This school was established in 1912 with three departments. In 1920 there were nine departments with an enrollment of 391 students. Its territory includes Va., N. C., S. C., Ga., Fla., Ala., Miss., La. and Tenn. In addition Kentucky has a relation to this school as well as to Geneva, and Arkansas a relation here, but mainly to Hollister. All training in the Southern region is under the committee of forty-four composed of 22 strong laymen in addition to the senior state secretaries and the International Secretaries regularly serving in this region.

The officers include the following:—J. B. Adger, Chairman; W. H. Morriss, Vice-Chairman; D. L. Probert, Secretary-Treasurer; R. H. King, Principal. Deans of the Departments or schools are as follows:—City Schools, W. K. Cooper; Railroad, G. K. Roper; Industrial, A. J. Speer; Boys, C. B. Loomis; Physical, C. E. Beckett; Student, W. D. Weatherford; County, H. Hubbell; General program and training, R. H. King.

Chesapeake;—HARPER'S FERRY, W. VA.

General Office, 347 Madison Ave., New York.

The first summer school for the training of Association officers among colored men was held in 1905 at Hampton, Va. The sessions of 1908 and 1909 were held at Asheville, N. C., and the annual sessions of 1910 and 1914 inclusive, were held at Arundel-on-the-Bay, Md. The camp equipment being destroyed by fire in the spring of 1915, the buildings of Storer College at Harper's Ferry, W. Va., were offered and accepted for the sessions of 1915, and the school has been held there ever since. In many ways it is an ideal place for a summer school. There are accommodations for 100 students, and the use of class rooms, auditorium, athletic field, tennis courts and the beautiful campus.

The course covers two weeks and the city department work is the basis upon which the school is conducted. Through lectures given by leaders, emphasis is also placed upon industrial, county, boys, railroad and educational work. Most of the colored men now in the service have received instruction and inspiration at the school. In addition to subscriptions and tuition fees of students, the International Committee made an appropriation for this necessary work for several years up to and including 1919, but at the 1920 session the leaders and students present assumed the task of raising sufficient funds to finance that session, and they were successful. These same leaders plan to finance the school for the sessions of the present and future.

Pacific Summer School;—ATASCADERO, CALIF.

General Office, Y. M. C. A., Los Angeles, Calif.

The purpose of this summer school is to stimulate thought, enlarge the vision of employed officers, create inspiration, develop lofty ideals, foster a deep and abiding faith in the Young Men's Christian Association, and especially to offer training in Association methods. The project method of instruction was followed in nearly all of the departments. By this method it was possible to use many more local men and fewer specialists. The method of Bible study conducted by Mr. Ewing was of special value. The ex-service men showed special interest in methods of work with boys and a course was given in C. C. T. P. with an enrollment of 26. The enrollment was 186 students and instructors. The sessions for 1921 will be held at Atascadero, California.

Pacific Northwest;—SEABECK, WASH.

General Office, Y. M. C. A., Portland, Ore.

The school had its origin in a conference of employed officers which met annually for a few days until 1915, when its scope and purpose developed into a summer school for that section of the country. The camp at Seabeck is owned by friends of the Association who have made it available, rent free, to Association enterprises throughout the summer months. Seabeck is 75 miles north of Seattle on an arm of Puget Sound overlooking the majestic Olympic Mountains. It combines the best features of ocean and mountain, is quiet and secluded, affording an ideal place for fellowship, study and inspiration.

Its executive committee includes Mr. T. Strong, Chairman, and E. W. Fuller, Secretary-Treasurer,—both of the Association in Seattle. The deans of the various departments are as follows:—W. W. Dillon, Principal; City Schools, A. D. Brewer; Physical, L. Ellis; Boys, T. Strong; Educational, L. G. Nichols; Religious, A. S. Allen; County, J. H. Rudd; Industrial, U. S. Duncan. A full 3-year course is offered and certificates issued.

Southwestern;—HOLLISTER, MO.

General Office, 704 Odd Fellows Bldg., St. Louis, Mo.

This school was begun in 1906 as a Railroad Association Institute held at Hot Springs, Ark. In 1907, it was moved to Hollister, Mo. Courses are now offered in railroad, city, boys, county, industrial, and physical work. No attempt has been made to force the growth of the school, but the needs of the territory and the desire for its development have been the foundation on which this work has been developed. The school was incorporated in 1917. The location is central and this enables it to provide help for large numbers at a minimum expense.

Its purpose is to help men obtain a broad acquaintance of the Association Movement through a study of the principles and methods of the organization and conduct of the work as carried on in the best Associations of various types. The board of directors includes Association leaders from ten states. Judge J. G. Trimble is President of the Board, L. A. Coulter, Vice-President; J. H. Banks, Secretary; A. C. Reibert, Manager of the camp. The officers and deans of the school are as follows:—L. A. Coulter, Principal; J. L. Hunter, Vice Principal; City school, S. A. Ackley; County, G. G. Cross; Railroad, E. W. Chadwick; Industrial, V. S. Legg; Physical, G. E. Stock.

TRAINING CENTERS

Definition and description: A standard training center is an Association providing each year systematic instruction in Association science and methods for its executive staff.

Association method, or the art of Association work, is taught to the newer members of the staff by giving them a varied experience in the work of the Association, or by using junior members of the staff as understudies to successful senior secretaries. Where this work is well organized, it takes the form of what is technically known as project teaching, the most modern of scientific teaching methods. The problems the men encounter in the conduct of their work form a basis of class-discussion, in which the science of the Association, its philosophy, history, and policies are discussed in a way that shows the relation of theory to the successful conduct of the daily work. Educators call this method problem teaching. From the educational point of view, it is the most scientific of classroom methods. Over five hundred secretaries are annually enrolled in local Association training classes.

In addition to work projects and problem discussions, a number of other educational methods are in use; namely, systematic coaching, planned and directed reading, inspection trips, staff conferences, reports and theses, conferences with specialists, working relations with various city institutions, and annual attendance at the summer schools. Some of the more progressive Training Centers, for instance New Haven and Columbus, have established relations with nearby universities, whereby the junior members of the staff are allowed to carry regular work sometimes counting toward a Master of Arts degree.

Federation of Training Centers

A number of the Associations conducting this work have united to form what is called the Federation of training centers, of which A. H. Whitford of Buffalo is Chairman, and Harry Henderson of Cleveland, Secretary. The Personnel Bureau of the International Committee represents the Federation in the field, studying modern educational methods and the processes used by large corporations in the training of executives and introducing these methods into the local Associations.

This process of training secretaries in local Associations has been introduced into a number of foreign countries, and the experience of America is stimulating and guiding this work abroad. In China, for instance, two kinds of training centers are recognized. In the first place, every Association is supposed to be a training center to carry on systematic work for the development of its staff. Five of the larger and more strategically located Associations have been designated as national training centers. These are subsidized by the National Committee and are a definite part of the training system of the Chinese work.

THE FELLOWSHIP PLAN OF RECRUITING

The fellowship plan, as defined by the Conference on the Association Profession, is "a method of recruiting college graduates for the Association vocation as a life work, and of relating them to Associations and Association training agencies, for experience and training." The recruiting phase of the fellowship plan is continued by the Personnel Bureau, through the work of C. K. Ober, and also by state personnel committees and by local Associations, particularly those whose general secretaries are college graduates.

The training feature of the fellowship plan has stimulated the new interest in, and emphasis on, Association training centers. In the type of Associations to which fellowship men are related, the training given fellowship men is that of the training center, the main features of which are a varied experience, local and summer school instruction, coaching by the experienced secretaries, assigned tasks and projects, and a system of promotion to the men who make good.

The fellowship plan appeals to the stronger type of college man about to graduate and undecided as to his life work, as it furnishes him an opportunity to investigate the Association work at its best, and to demonstrate his possession or lack of the qualifications essential to success in the Association secretaryship as a life work. The plan is, therefore, rightly regarded as a recruiting rather than as a training agency of the Association Movement.

CONFERENCE ON THE ASSOCIATION PROFESSION

Harry Henderson, Cleveland, Ohio, Chairman

R. L. Cheney, Springfield, Mass., Secretary-Treasurer

These with the following, constitute the executive committee: J. Q. Ames, Chicago, Ill.; R. P. Kaighn, New York City; K. A. Shumaker, Chicago, Ill.; W. D. Weatherford, Nashville, Tenn.

This agency was created by the Employed Officers' Association as a result of a study of the whole problem of recruiting and training presented at the sessions of the triennial gathering in Columbus, Ohio, June, 1911. The conference is made up of representatives of the several training agencies of the Young Men's Christian Association;—the three Association colleges; the nine summer schools; the federation of training centers; the state secretaries association, and the Personnel Bureau of the International Committee. The last session of this body was held at Wallace Lodge, Yonkers, N. Y., December 3-4-5, 1920. The Conference has been valuable in standardizing and advancing the work of recruiting and training men for the Association callings, and in promoting those things which have to do with the growth, efficiency and happiness of men in the secretaryship. Important pamphlets dealing with these subjects can be secured upon application from the secretary.

Authorized by the International Conventions held at Cincinnati, 1913, at Cleveland, 1916, and at Detroit, 1919. The approved plan is a scientifically devised method of paying annuities to Y. M. C. A. employed officers who resign from the work on their 60th birthday or thereafter, or who have to leave the work on account of disability. The whole plan has been devised from a painstaking study of statistical information regarding Association employed officers over a period of 25 years. The age, salary and service tables reflect the exact experience of these officers. The table of rates which follows is based on these tables alone and not adapted from any other pension plan. Furthermore it is in accord with the best experience of pension experts in Europe and America that very decidedly favor a partly-contributory system as against a system depending entirely on an endowment, or where the cost is borne either by the employer alone or the employee alone. The actuary who made the above mentioned study is skilled in his line and nationally known as a tried and safe specialist in pension plan making.

38	4.6	4.4	59	6.7	8.3

The plan has three benefit features—(1) RETIREMENT; any participating employed officer who attains age 60 is eligible to retire at that time or thereafter and will receive an annual allowance for life approximating  $1\frac{1}{2}$  per cent of his average salary for the last 10 years of his service multiplied by the number of years of his aggregate service as a full-time Association Employed Officer. To illustrate: Average salary last ten years of service, \$3,000. Length of service 34 years.  $\$3,000 \times 1\frac{1}{2}\% \times 34 = \$1,530$  annual retirement allowance.

(2) DISABILITY; after 5 years of service any participating employed officer may retire if totally and permanently disabled regardless of his age. Upon retirement he may receive an annual allowance for life equal to about 1 per cent of his average salary computed as above.

(3) WITHDRAWAL; any employed officer who withdraws after 1 year of participation will receive the total amount he has contributed to the Retirement fund plus 4% compound interest. In the event of the death in service of a participating employed officer the payment will be made to his estate or designated beneficiary.

The money to provide the above mentioned benefits is derived from three sources: 1st: From periodical payments made by the employed officer into the fund on a fixed percentage of his salary as per the official table of rates. The actual amount he pays annually changes as his salary changes but his rate per cent is constant. Since his money can be withdrawn if he leaves the fund after participating for 1 year or more, his rate averages slightly higher than the Association rate and he pays into the fund on what is known as a savings bank basis. 2nd: Similar payments are made into the fund by the Association that employs a participating employed officer. These payments are made on the "tontine" or group basis and the official rate scale averages slightly less than what employed officers pay. No money so paid is returnable to the Association on the withdrawal of a secretary from the fund. 3rd: Additional payments are to be made from a special fund known as the "accrued liability account," which represents the amount of money needed to take care of the past years of service of the present force of Association employed officers. After the fund has started to operate the payments from the new employed officers supplemented by payments from their Associations will provide all the benefits they are entitled to receive. The situation, however, is different in the case of men with a record of past Association service and who have joined the plan before it begins to operate. To give these older secretaries full Retirement Fund allowances without charging them high and prohibitive rates their back payments from the time they entered the work is made up out of the accrued liability account which has actuarially been determined as $3,740,193.

Since the International Convention at Detroit in 1919, the Board has aggressively been at work on plans and details necessary for the actual starting of the fund. 3,138 secretaries and laymen pledged $34,691 to the operating budget necessary to meet the initial expenses of the fund including actuarial and promotion expenses. Over 90 per cent of this amount has been paid in to May 1, 1921. On May 1st, 1921, about 3,700 or approximately 70 per cent of the employed officers of the country had signed agreements to participate and over 500 boards of directors of local Associations throughout the country covering their total employed staff of over 3,200 secretaries had likewise taken favorable action on the plan. Both the participation of employed officers and Associations is sufficient in the judgment of the actuary to guarantee the safety of the plan. There but remains the one large task for the board of trustees—that of raising the $3,740,193 accrued liability account. This has been temporarily held up because of the general business situation throughout the country but every hope is held out that aggressive steps can very soon be taken for this amount to be raised and the fund actually started. It is hoped that this will be sometime during the year 1921.

GENERAL SECRETARIES' INSURANCE ALLIANCE

Alliance basis: "Bear ye one another's burdens."

There is no part of the Young Men's Christian Association Movement that is so closely allied to the principles of the Association as the Alliance, and from the beginning it has really been the exemplifying of Christ in service in its relation to the employed officers.

Organized in 1880 by a small group of men it has continued through the years as an important factor and a blessing to the Association Brotherhood. One hundred and sixty-one of our group have gone on before (June 1,) and in practically every case the beneficiary has been able to meet the needs and new conditions in a way that would not have been possible if this Alliance were not in existence.

Every Association employed officer should see to it that he becomes a member. The men who are eligible for membership are employed officers not over forty-five years of age, who have not been more than three years in Association work, and whose names are listed by the International Committee.

The Alliance is governed by the employed officers through the following Executive Committee of five: L. Wilbur Messer, Chicago; Frank E. Anderson, Milwaukee; Karl A. Shumaker, Chicago; Frank H. Thatcher, Buffalo; C. K. Ober, New York City.

Information and application for membership may be secured from C. B. Willis—Secretary-Treasurer, St. Petersburg, Fla.

In 1909 at the Employed Officers Conference held at Atlantic City, Mr. A. H. Whitford of Buffalo called attention to the fact that there was need of some fund for the relief of Employed Officers who by reason of temporary illness were incapacitated. These men frequently served small Associations where it was impossible to continue their salary, hence debt and in some cases suffering resulted. The appeal of Mr. Whitford resulted in the creation of a committee, known as the "Employed Officers' Relief Fund Committee." The Conference named Mr. A. H. Whitford as Chairman, and Mr. W. H. Morriss, of Baltimore, Secretary-Treasurer, and this Committee has functioned since that time, being reappointed by each successive Conference.

The Committee has assisted 28 men in the years of its operation, and the expressions of gratitude from those who have been helped amply justify the service. Each year the treasurer sends a report of the receipts and expenditures, and a statement of service rendered, to the employed officers of the country. All employed officers are asked to contribute, but contributions are entirely voluntary. The amounts received vary from year to year, but no genuine request for assistance has had to be declined because of insufficient funds. The average amount received year by year is about $1500, and there have been generally about six men on the list receiving aid.

THE ATHLETIC LEAGUE OF THE YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATIONS OF NORTH AMERICAWm. M. Kingsley, *Chairman*John Brown, Jr., M.D., Secretary

The League is composed of those Associations which voluntarily join it and which, in so doing, accept a high ethical standard for the administration of athletic sports. Each Association adopts the following amateur definition and conducts its sports on this basis:

"An amateur athlete is one who participates in competitive gymnastics or athletics for pleasure only and for the physical, mental, moral, and social benefits directly derived therefrom. A professional in athletics is a person who promotes or participates in gymnastics or athletics for any other purpose than the above."

The League has sub-committees on the several sports and cooperates with the National Collegiate Athletic Association in formulating rules. The League also cooperates with the A. A. U., the Boy Scouts of America, the American Swimming Association and the American Red Cross. A hand book is issued containing the rules and regulations of the League and technical suggestions for the conduct of athletics.

An International Hexathlon Athletic Contest is held annually for men, and another for boys; also a Swimming and Life Saving Pentathlon for men and another for boys. In 1920 alone, over 21,000 boys participated in the Hexathlon Contest.
